The Cast

The students of W.T. White make up the cast of our high school. The seniors are the stars of the high school scene. This is their final appearance before they enter that twilight zone known as "life after high school." The seniors' outstanding performance this year represents their swan-song as they make the transition from being leaders of the pack to being just another face in the crowd. Some seniors will continue their educations at colleges where they will once again climb the social ladder from the anonymity of freshman status to the bold presence of a senior. Sharing the spotlight this year are the seniors' co-stars, the junior class. The juniors have twelve more months of high school to enjoy, unfortunately the time will move much too quickly. Despite being in the shadow of the seniors, the junior class shows definite potential to fill the shoes of the seniors of '86 and become the stars of '87. This year, the class of '87 has made itself a visible and important part of W.T. White school spirit. Contributing to the success of W.T. White is the supporting cast made up of the sophomore class. The seniors of '88 got off to a great start last year with a lot of spirit. They have supplemented their amazing enthusiasm throughout their sophomore year and show no signs of declining. Completing the cast of W.T. White are the school's extras, the freshman class. Inspired by the spirit of the upperclassmen, the seniors of '89 have great ambitions for their high school careers. After only one year at W.T. White the freshmen have learned the importance of school spirit and they will in turn share that spirit with the future students of W.T. White. Like the cast of a movie, the students of W.T. White work together as a student body to make W.T. White the best high school it can be.

Barking Up The Right Tree

An innate love of animals fostered Melanie Rembart's interest in biological science. Ever since she could remember, her house was filled with birds, dogs, and scattered rodents and reptiles. This early liking to animals continued into her high school years. Melanie worked after school and on weekends at a local pet store, hoping to gain more insight into the field of veterinary medicine. She plans to attend Texas A&M University and eventually enter the veterinary school. Whatever her career choice turns out to be, it will definitely involve a close contact with animals.

Working For The Future

Cetchren Nealy and Mindy Clark spent a rewarding year in the Executive Assistant Program. In her second year of this program, Cetchren studied closely with a psychology professor at S.M.U. each afternoon while attending regular classes at W.T. White in the morning. Mindy Clark, with hopes of a career in interior design, gained valuable insight into this career while working half-days at an exclusive furniture showroom and retail store. This unusual experience enabled Cetchren and Mindy to develop career interests which would have ordinarily gone unexplored until college.

Rockin' The Night Away

Our resident rock musicians at W.T. White, Eric Bolinger and Mike Bowman, have certainly made their presence known through their participation in the band A.S.Q. The group has played at various school functions, such as the senior carnival and dances. The band has also gained recognition outside the school by having one of their songs played on Q102 radio station. With Eric on the drums and Mike playing bass guitar, A.S.Q. can really put on a show. All of the band members plan to pursue different fields of interest in college, but for the moment, the band is a great way to release energy and just have a good time.

The Entertainer

As a dedicated musician, Karen Mellow devoted a large part of her day to the perfection of her piano skills. Through the Executive Assistant Program, she was able to spend half of each school day with a music professor from Southern Methodist University. Karen's ultimate goal is to continue her musical studies throughout college and eventually become a concert pianist. At the present time however, she is also concentrating on her participation in various school activities such as the band and Student Council. If support by the student body is any indication, then Karen is sure to be successful in her musical endeavors-as she was voted "Most Talented" by the senior class.

The Intermission

In this break from typical high school topics, the screenwriters of this production have chosen to present special events and happenings that have made the 1985-86 school year unique. Each month brought disaster and excitement for the student body of W.T. White, not only as Longhorns, but also as Dallasites, Americans and citizens of the world. The numerous aeronautical accidents, natural disasters, and terrorist activities drew concern and action from W.T. White students. We were not an apathetic group of teenagers munching on our popcorn as the newsreel played, only waiting for the main feature to begin; W.T. White students began to take a part in the world in which we live. The following pages may rekindle that interest, and someday we will all make our contributions to the world. In the slightly altered words of Charles Dickens, "It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, but they were the only times we had." On the lighter side, reflect back on the best and worst times of the past school year. The screenwriters have included a few fantastic and funny extremes to jog your memory of W.T. White's, Hollywood's and America's superlatives. One cold day back in January of 1986, a poll was taken to reveal some of the cast's favorite things. The categories and results may change hundreds of times in the years to come, but this production has captured the feelings of W.T. White for one short period of time. And, before you finish your popcorn, survey the events and actions of 1985-86 that have rated a Horns Up or Horns Down designation. Finally recall the other special attractions of this school year. From famous speakers to fabulous dances, and the final activities of the graduating seniors, W.T. White has had an exceptional year. In this intermission from the regularly scheduled movie, please take note and recall the amazing school year of 1985-86 and the events that have made it noteworthy.

NEWSREEL '85-'86

JUNE

- The Boston Celtics defeated the Los Angeles Lakers in the NBA Championship Series.
- A body identified as that of Josef Mengele, infamous Nazi war criminal, was found near San Paulo, Brazil. He was accused of having killed thousands of Jews in the concentration camp Auschwitz in Germany, during World War II.
- Members of the Legion of Doom from Pascal High School in Fort Worth were brought to trial on charges of violent and criminal activities. The group of young men, who had previously all had excellent records in school, terrorized certain groups of students with car bombs, threats, and other militant tactics.
- Lebanese Amal terrorists hijacked a TWA flight in Athens, Greece, and forced the plane to switch course and land in Beirut. Of the 145 passengers and eight crew members aboard, only one American hostage was killed, the others were released unharmed.

JULY

- With a dazzling line-up of musical talent ready to perform for the purpose of raising money for African famine victims, Live Aid began simultaneously in London's Wembley Stadium and in JFK Memorial Stadium in Philadelphia. The charity concert organized by British musician Bob Geldof raised over $80 million dollars and included performances by David Bowie, Mick Jagger, Tina Turner, Paul McCartney, and the reunited Led Zeppelin and The Who.
- President Reagan underwent surgery to remove a cancerous tumor from his lower intestine. The operation was successful and the President returned to the White House within a few weeks after the surgery.
- The Coca-Cola Corporation created a storm of controversy as they removed their traditional soft drink from the market and replaced it with a new Coke. Waves of consumers demanding the return of old Coke prompted the company to reinstate its product to the stores under the name of Coke Classic.
- Dallas Tollway expansion around the Galleria still proceeded at a slow rate, causing traffic problems and shopping hassles.

AUGUST

- The first major air disaster at DFW Airport occurred as Delta Flight 191 plunged to the ground, killing 137 people. The crash was blamed on a severe wind shear that could not be detected by the airport radars.
- Former Dallas Cowboys quarterback Roger Staubach was inducted into the Football Hall of Fame.
- This month marked the fortieth anniversary of the atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.
- Another tragic plane crash occurred when a JAL Airliner plummeted into the Japanese Mountains, killing 520 people. This crash ranked as the worst single plane disaster in the history of aviation.
- Pop star Madonna married actor Sean Penn.
- The state of New York gave away a record $41 million dollars to the lucky winner of the Lotto 48 state lottery.
- A British Airways plane caught fire while still on the runway at London's Heathrow Airport. The fire, later traced to engine trouble, claimed the lives of 54 people.
- Thousands of music fans rocked at the Texxas Jam under the blistering afternoon sun in the Cotton Bowl. The line-up of bands included The Scorpions, Night Rangers and Bon Jovi.
- The Dallas Area Rapid Transit board (DART) finally approved a plan to build an underground subway to ease traffic along Central Expressway and in the downtown area.
- Samantha Smith, the young girl whose letter to Yuri Andropov prompted her trip to the USSR at his request, died in an airplane crash near Augusta, Maine.

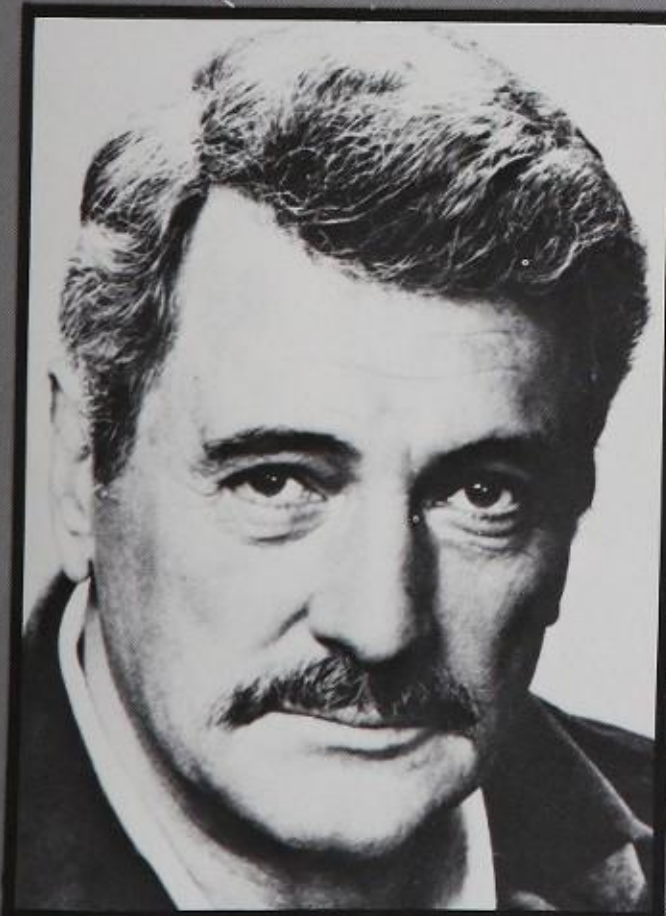

SEPTEMBER

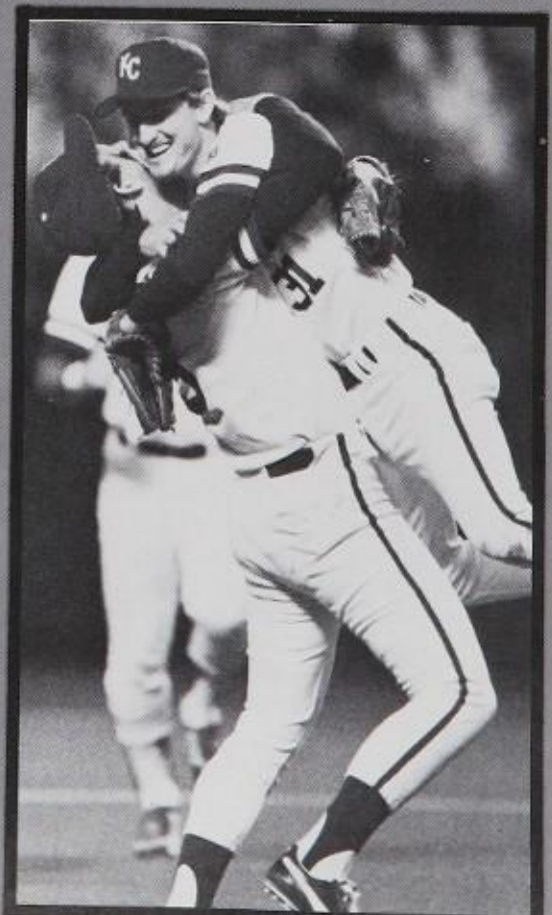

- Two new important state laws went into effect this month. The Blue Law was repealed, allowing retail stores to open on Sundays, and the seat belt law began requiring mandatory seat belt use in the front seats of cars.
- Using advanced technology, such as unmanned underwater search probes, the wreckage of the Titanic was found off the coast of Newfoundland.
- The "Boss", Bruce Springsteen, made a stop in Dallas on his world-wide arena tour to play two consecutively sold-out shows in the Cotton Bowl. His long-awaited album, Born in the USA, transformed this small-town New Jersey boy into the undisputed king of rock and roll.
- Cincinnati Reds player manager Pete Rose broke Ty Cobb's career hit record of 4,191 with a single to left field in a game against the San Diego Padres.
- A series of devastating earthquakes rumbled through Mexico City, causing a death toll of at least 7,000. Many buildings were damaged and hundreds of people were left homeless as a result of the initial quake, which registered 8.1 on the Richter Scale.
- Willie Nelson and John Cougar Mellencamp staged Farm Aid, a benefit concert for the financially troubled American farmers.

OCTOBER

- After a long battle with the deadly disease AIDS, movie and television star Rock Hudson passes away in California. This death brought needed attention to the growing AIDS epidemic in the U.S.
- The State Fair of Texas opened in Dallas' Fair Park and enjoyed a run of sunny weather and good crowd turnouts. The highlight of the fair was the giant ferris wheel called the Texas Star.
- Dallas shoppers got a taste of New York City elegance as Macy's department store opened in the Galleria, just in time for the Christmas retail rush.
- Four Palestinian terrorists hijacked the Italian cruise liner Achille Lauro and killed one American citizen on board. As the hijackers attempted to escape after docking in Egypt, their plane was intercepted by American jets and the hijackers were flown back to Italy to stand trial.
- An old Dallas tradition lived on as hoards of Sooners swarmed into town for Texas-OU weekend. The Longhorns may have been happy during the pre-game festivities, but they were disappointed with a loss in the following day's game.
- The Kansas City Royals captured baseball's most coveted title, the World Series Crown, after defeating the St. Louis Cardinals. Kansas City pitcher Bret Saberhagen was named as the Most Valuable Player in the Series.
- Michael Brown and Joseph Goldstein, both scientists working at the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas, received a Nobel Prize for Medicine for their work with cholesterol and cardiovascular diseases.

NOVEMBER

- A devastating eruption of the volcano Nevada del Ruiz in Columbia spurred a massive landslide that covered several surrounding villages with waves of lava, mud, and debris. The sudden explosion totally destroyed some towns, and caused the deaths of 21,000 Columbians and left another 150,000 homeless. The rescue effort continued for days, as some survivors remained trapped in the mud for up to 72 hours before being discovered.
- The United States was graced with the presence of royalty when Prince Charles and Lady Diana visited the nation's capital. The couple dazzled Washington-area socialites with their appearances at dinners, balls, and other gatherings throughout their stay.
- In the most important political gathering of the year, President Reagan met with Soviet Premier Mikhail Gorbachev at the Geneva Summit in Switzerland. The two world leaders discussed topics ranging from the growing arms race in Europe as well as in space, to ways of bridging the cultural gap between the two countries.

DECEMBER

- Scientists at the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Maryland, experimenting with the drug interleukin-2, came closer to discovering a possible cure for the deadly disease cancer.
- The space program blasted into the future with a series of extremely successful shuttle missions.
- The holiday spirit for several American families was shattered, as an army plane carrying 248 soldiers home for the Christmas season crashed in Newfoundland shortly after take-off.
- Groups of terrorists simultaneously attacked the airports of Rome and Vienna with barrages of machine gun fire and grenade explosions.
- Rick Nelson, T.V. and music sensation of the 1950's, was killed when his plane crashed en route to Dallas to perform in a New Year's Eve celebration at the Park Suite Hotel.
- Racial unrest continued in South Africa as opposition to the apartheid government became stronger.
- Deng Xiaoping was named Man of the Year by Time Magazine and Kareem Abdul Jabar was picked by Sports Illustrated as the Sportsman of the Year.

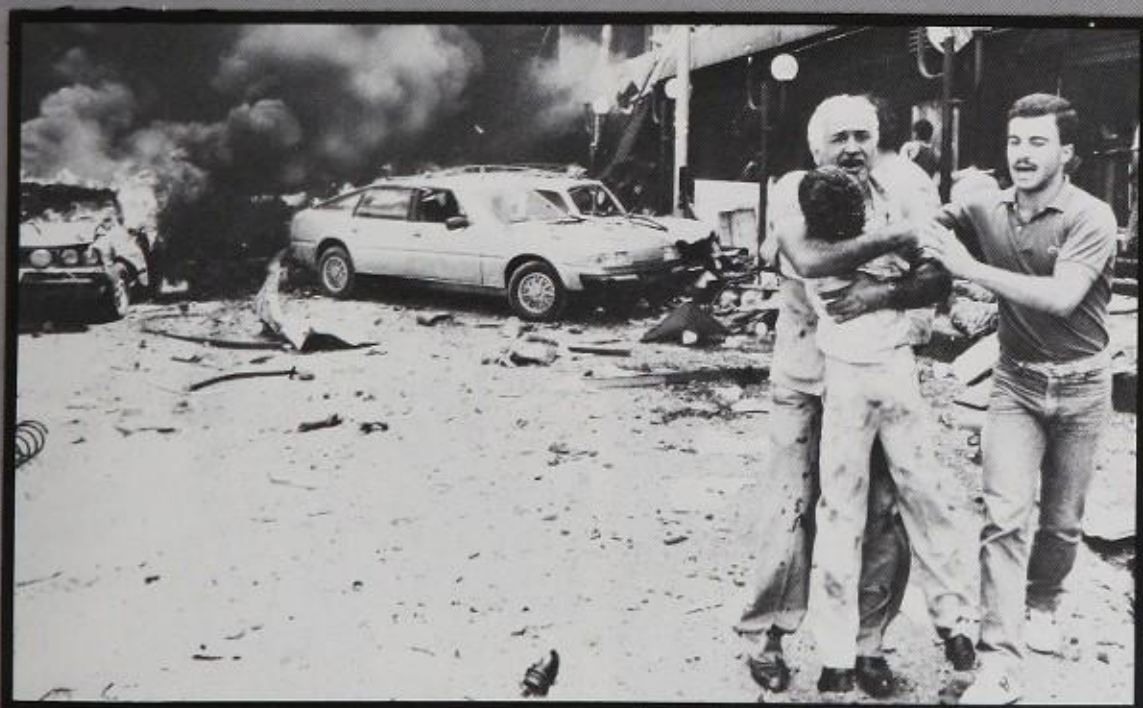

JANUARY

- The new year started with a bang for the Texas A&M football team when they defeated Auburn in the Cotton Bowl.
- The first recognition of Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday as a national holiday brought well-deserved attention to the ideals and accomplishments of this past civil rights leader.
- The spacecraft Voyager 2 reached the planet of Uranus — discovering several new moons and rings, and then continuing on towards Neptune.
- The Chicago Bears, led by Jim McMahon and William "Refrigerator" Perry, shuffled over the New England Patriots in the Superbowl in New Orleans. The final score of 47-10 showed the true superiority of this super team.
- Tragedy gripped America when the Challenger space shuttle, carrying six astronauts and teacher Christa McAuliffe, blew up in midair shortly after take-off. The fatal disaster was blamed on a faulty right fuel tank that sparked the fiery explosion.

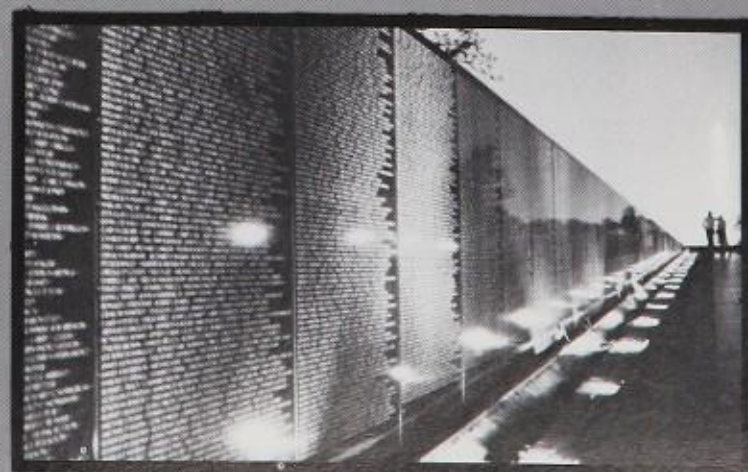

FEBRUARY

- Revolts in Haiti resulted in the overthrow of the government of Jean-Claude Duvalier. The royal family fled the country amid accusations of corrupt behavior over a period of many years.
- In the NBA All-Star game at Dallas' own Reunion Arena, the East conquered the West — 139 to 132.
- Disaster struck the aspirin industry when a consumer in a suburb of New York City died after taking a Tylenol capsule laced with arsenic.
- Although Filipino President Ferdinand Marcos managed to tamper with election votes to retain his title, his power soon faded. Opposition leader Corazon Aquino and her supporters successfully staged a peaceful revolution and deposed the corrupt, aging Marcos.
- Violent killings and bombings continued in the war-torn city of Beirut, Lebanon.

MARCH

- Vice-President George Bush arrived in Dallas to kick off the city's sesquicentennial celebrations.
- Memorial services held throughout the year commemorated the heroic veterans of Vietnam.
- Seventy six years after its last appearance, Halley's Comet again streaked across the heavens. Soviet space probes were sent into orbit in hopes of unravelling the secrets of this mysterious visitor from space.

HORNS UP!

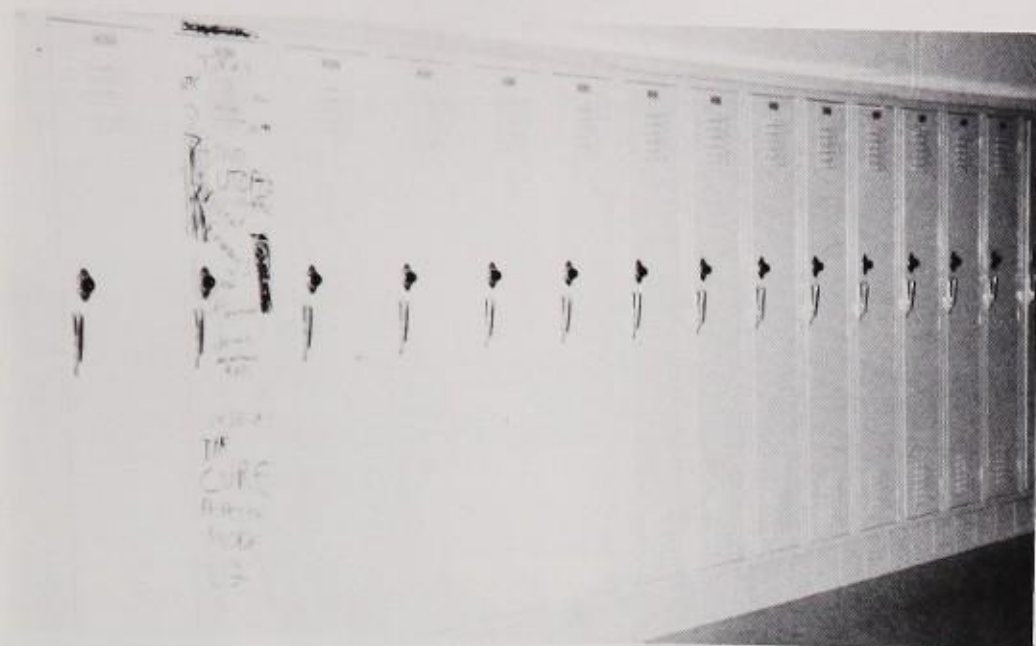

- The asbestos problem in the school was finally solved, as workers removed the material from the classrooms over the summer vacation.
- Several new teachers and many new and exciting courses came to W.T. White this past year.
- The completion of the Senior Courtyard and other beautification projects brought extra appeal to the school.
- The football team advanced to the play-offs in district 11-AAAAAA competition.

- The Varsity Boys' Soccer team made it all the way to the regional play-offs.
- With a great senior class and an equally impressive group of underclassmen, the student body at White brought honor and recognition to the school through their achievements and awards.
- The faculty and staff, led by principal Chad Woolery, did an excellent job of guiding Warren Travis White High School through one of the greatest years in the school's history.

- The Wall of Fame was updated and maintained to provide ongoing recognition of the numerous achievements of various outstanding students and faculty.
- Many fine school dances, including: Homecoming, Sadie Hawkins, Prom, and several after-the-game dances were organized and staged throughout the year.
- The Warren Travis White PTSA enjoyed a productive and extremely exciting year that saw a great increase in membership and involvement.

- A low level of school spirit plagued early morning pep rallies, as small attendance hampered the effectiveness of the gatherings.
- The J.V. and Freshman Football teams were combined as a result of the "no pass-no play" rule that prohibited many athletes from participating in the season.
- New state education laws went into effect giving teachers even more duties to fulfill and paperwork to worry about, but less time to concentrate on actual teaching.

- Vandalism gripped W.T. White High School when a rash of locker break-ins swept through the school.
- The practice of towing cars parked in front of the school caught several students off-guard
- If the over-all condition of the restrooms was not bad enough, then a shortage of toilet paper made it even worse.
- The most puzzling mystery of the year, the class rank system, baffled the teachers, students, and parents who tried but failed to decipher it.

- Unsuspecting students were pulled over by the police on Welch Road for driving 30 mph — obviously unaware of the new school zone area.
- Teachers throughout the state of Texas, regardless of which courses they specialized in, were required to take a basic English competency test.
- Being forced to take finals was a hassle for some seniors, while others found a late graduation interrupting their plans for summer school.

HORNS DOWN!

HIGHLIGHTS 85-86

CAR WASHES

Early in the summer the 1986 senior class began their fund-raising activities. Several car washes were held under the blistering afternoon sun at Allied Bank on Forest Lane. Bikini-clad girls standing in the median of the road caught the attention of the passing drivers and directed them into the parking lot. Armed with water hoses, wash rags, and buckets of soap, the rest of the seniors readily awaited the flood of oncoming customers.

The car washes started in the middle of the morning and lasted well into the afternoon. The gatherings not only helped the seniors to raise funds for upcoming events, but also helped them to work on their summer tans.

SPAGHETTI SUPPER

The next big fund-raiser for the seniors was the traditional Spaghetti Supper held in the cafeteria of the school. Two senior mothers, Mrs. Raye Ann Weenick and Mrs. Pat Whitaker, were entrusted with the task of staging this special event. With the necessary preparations of the food and the ticket sales completed, the lunchroom was opened to a mob of hungry students, teachers, and parents.

The meal was a culinary masterpiece and a great success. Immediately following was the annual Senior Slave Auction. In this unusual sale participants were able to bid and purchase services from senior students — ranging from giving tutorial lessons to walking dogs.

SCHOOL DANCES

Dances held after football, basketball, or soccer games or for other occasions in the school gym have always been extremely popular at W.T. White. Several memorable ones were staged this past year by the Senior Executive Board, Student Council, Cheerleaders, and Caballeras.

The year began with a Back to School Dance that gave the students a needed break from the opening formalities of the new school year. The Friday the 13th Dance, attended by Jason himself, was also a favorite among the members of the school.

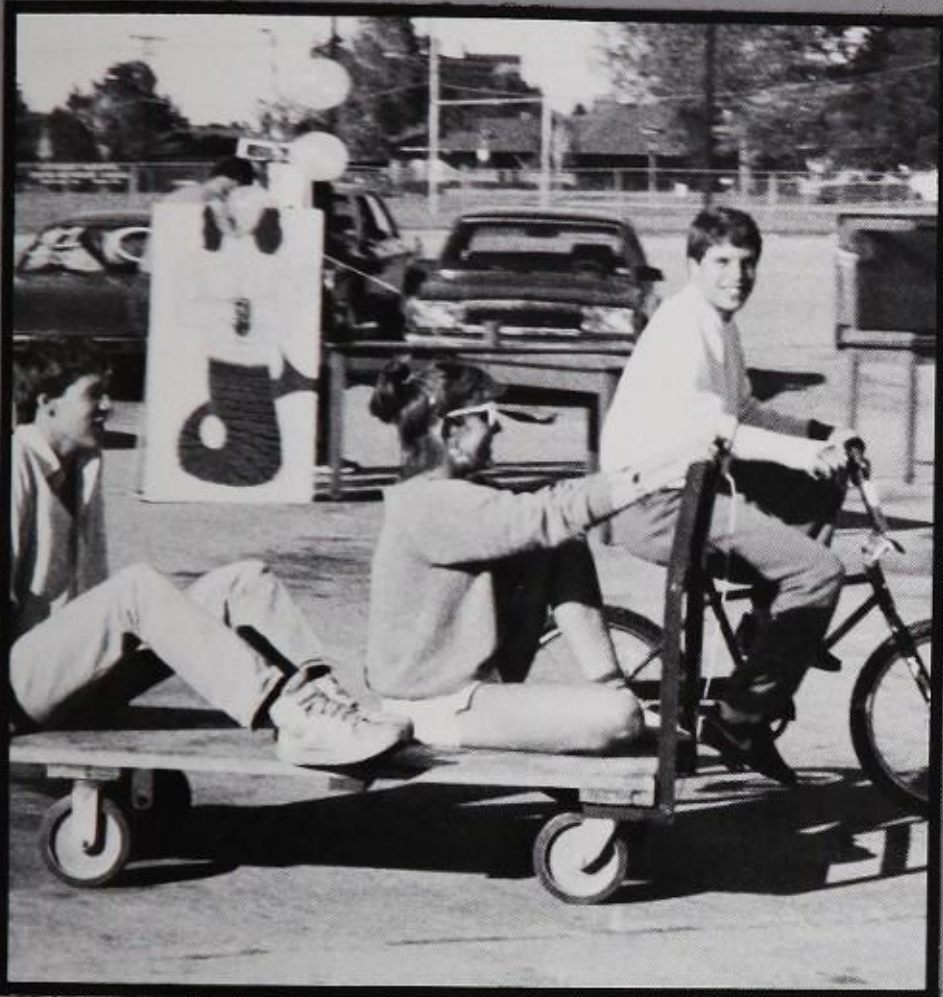

Imaginary kings and queens of hearts danced in a gym filled with pink and white at the Valentines Dance. A continually popular theme for after-the-game dances was a beach or Hawaiiin scene — as evidenced by the Luau at White. Students donned Jams and leis and spent the night rocking away the sands of time. These dances and others proved to be excellent fund-raisers as well as great sources of entertainment.

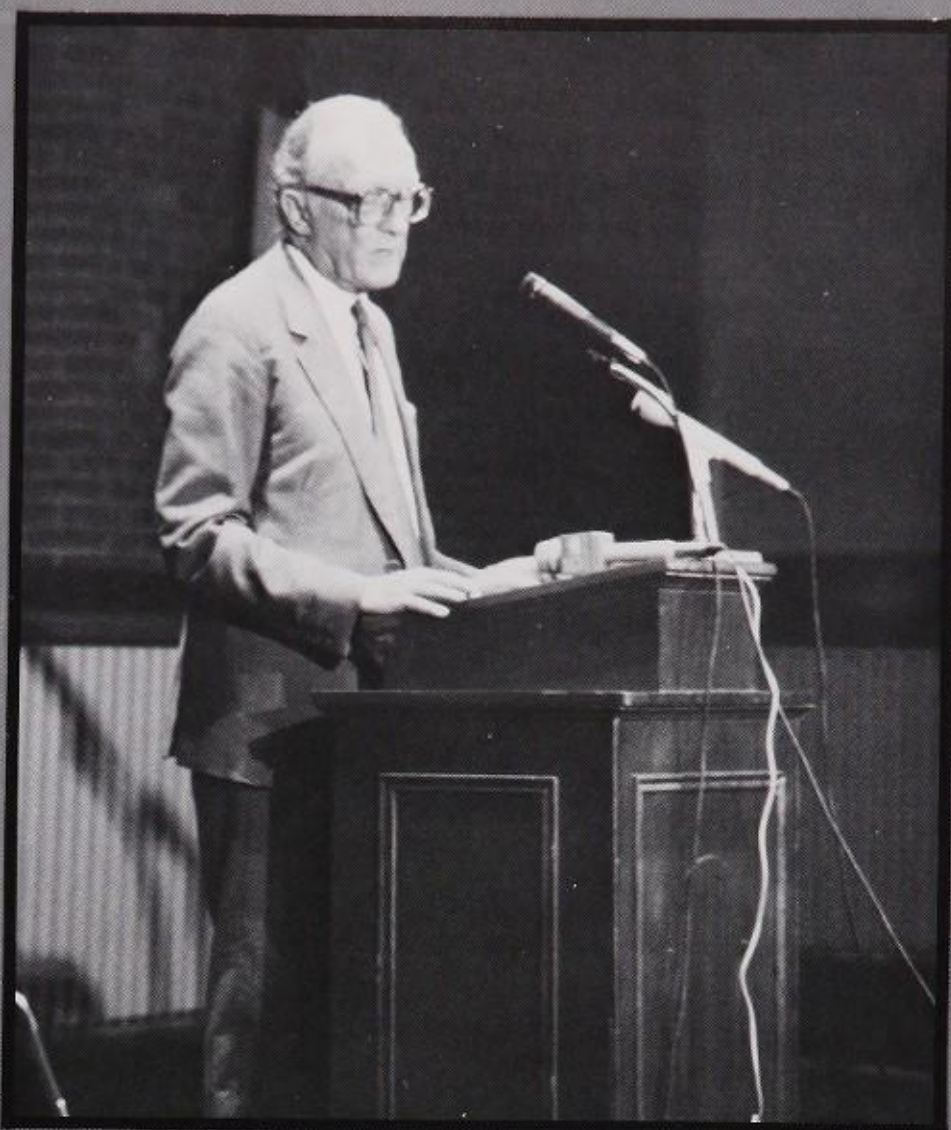

SENIOR CARNIVAL

Street Scenes '85 — an event organized by the seniors but enjoyed by all. The outdoor extravaganza of booths, food, and music was one of the smash hits of the school year. Mrs. Mary Alice Smith helped the seniors to bring together a variety of activities into a remarkable success. Luckily, the weather did not place a damper on the festivities, and the large crowd that attended was able to enjoy a tremendous evening of fun under a starlit sky.

With the band A.S.Q. at one end of the teacher's parking lot, the giant moonwalk at the other, and various booths in between, the Carnival was an extremely exciting event. Visitors could use their tickets at either the dart throw, fortune teller, picture, or water dunk booths. Also, a posse of seniors traveled throughout the lot, picking up a chosen few and delivering them to the jail in the center of the Carnival.

LORD CARRINGTON

W.T. White was graced with the presence of Lord Carrington, Secretary General of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, when he came to speak to the student body during his visit to Dallas. Carrington's presentation in the auditorium centered around the topics of the nuclear arms race and the general operations of NATO in relation to the world political scene.

The school received local media attention for the event — but this coverage was not the greatest benefit obtained from Lord Carrington's visit. More importantly, the students were given the opportunity to learn from one of the most influential leaders in the field of international peace-keeping affairs.

MACY'S PARADE

As the 97 band members anxiously boarded a Delta jet bound for New York City, their dreams were coming closer to being fulfilled. After months of raising funds and practicing routines, the W.T. White Longhorn Marching Band was finally ready to perform in the annual Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade.

The road to New York began in October, when the band was invited to play at the opening festivities of Macy's new department store in the Galleria. Store officials were so impressed with the performance, that they offered the band a place in the parade. The longhorns became the only band from Texas to receive this great honor.

Money from candy sales and proceeds from a Vocal Majority concert in the school auditorium helped the students in raising funds for their trip. In only a mere six weeks they had accomplished the incredible task of raising the entire amount needed — $40,000.

CYNTHIA ROWLAND

Ever since her first visit to W.T. White, Cynthia Rowland has been a popular speaker among the students. Her discussions of teenage suicide, depression, and anxiety have left lasting impressions on the entire student body at the school. By using true stories about teenagers struggling against unbelievable odds, she made every student reflect upon his or her own situation in life.

Not only were Ms. Rowland's topics of discussion pertinent to today's high school student, she also carried her ideas one step further by personally relating them to the students. When her general speech in the auditorium was over, she journeyed to the library with a concerned group of students to individually discuss their own personal needs, desires, and obstacles in life.

Cynthia Rowland was particularly well-acquainted with the themes of her speeches, because she lived through some of the same problems herself. In her book The Monster Within, she discussed her personal struggle with the eating disorder bulimia. Ms. Rowland conquered her inner torments, and began traveling about the country telling others how to do the same. Her schedule as a speaker was very busy, but she nonetheless made room for a visit to our school. W.T. White should feel extremely grateful that she chose to share her immense knowledge with them.

POWDER PUFF

Football has traditionally been an all-male sport at W.T. White, but this past year the Cheerleaders and Baby Bulls were determined to break this stereotype. After a challenge issued by the Bulls, the two girl groups participated in the first-ever Powder Puff football game at Loos field. The purpose of the meeting was primarily to raise money, but also to experience the sheer joy of competition. On a cold, windy night in the middle of winter, the girls clashed head on in one of the best and most exciting games of the year.

The Cheerleaders and Baby Bulls, coached by players from the real Longhorn football team, donned uniforms and pads and faithfully executed complicated maneuvers on the field. Both teams showed remarkable talent for the brief period of practice that they had. While the girls sweated it out on the playing field, the guys from the LEI and LPC, wearing skirts and waving pom poms, cheered them on to victory. When the official clock had expired, the scoreboard told the entire story: Cheerleaders-18, Baby Bulls-0.

STEAK DINNER

For the site of the 1986 Senior Steak Dinner, the students chose a favorite Dallas-area restaurant — The Trildust Steakhouse. The cowboy attire of the seniors attending blended well with the western atmosphere of the occasion. The menu included a delicious salad appetizer and pecan fudge pie for dessert, but the highlight of the meal was the thick, juicy slab of prime rib.

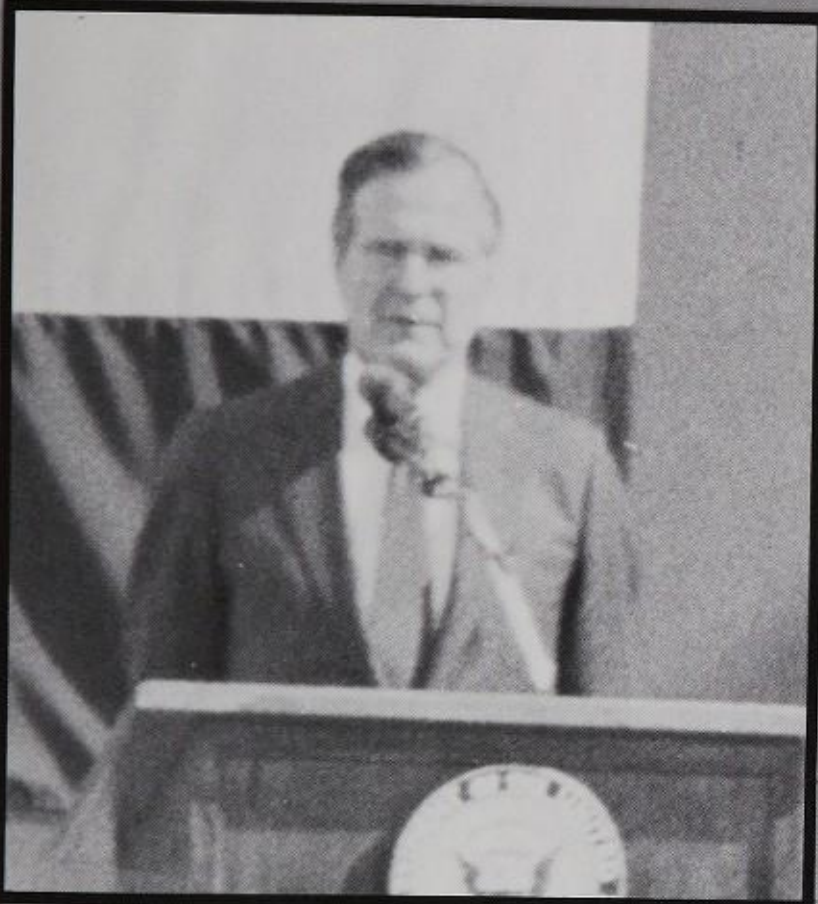

After the dinner was completed, some students chose to show their expertise on the western dance floor, while others came barreling down the giant slide in the restaurant. The Trildust also had a peculiar dress code that was strictly enforced — NO TIES! Mr. Woolery and others were the first ones to discover this fact.

MISSING CHILDREN'S DANCE

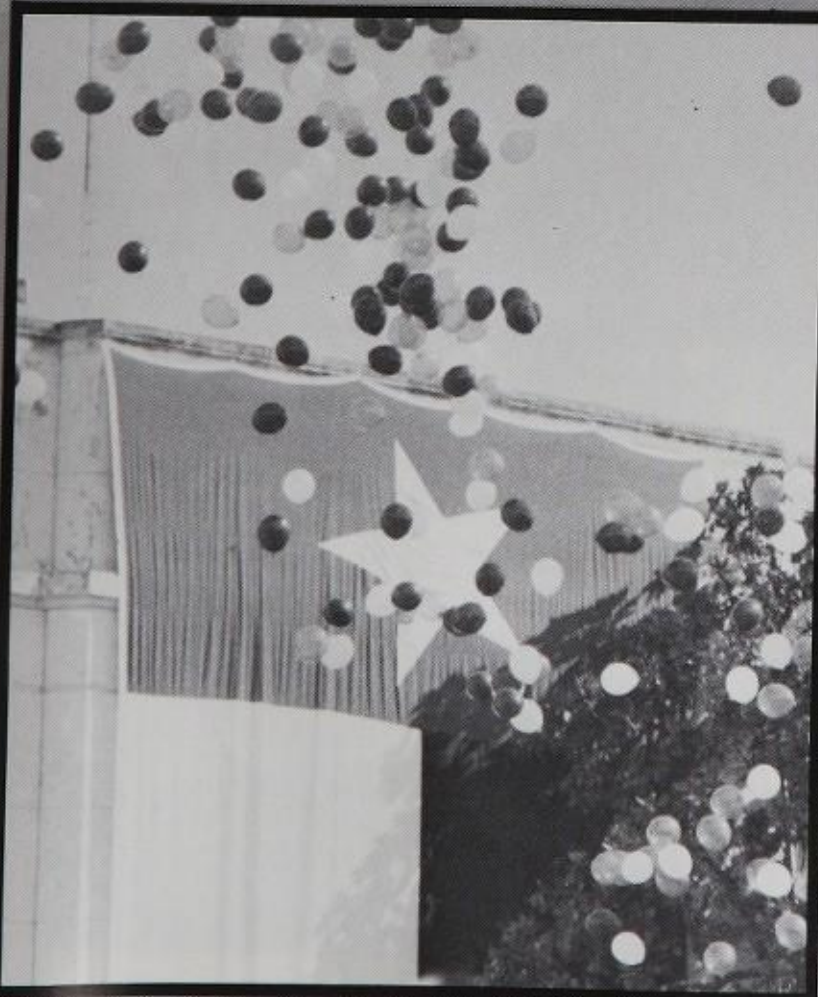

In preparation for one of the more memorable dances of the school year, representatives from W.T. White, Newman Smith, and R.L. Turner met to discuss and organize a very special event. The place was the Grand Ballroom of the Westin Hotel and the purpose was to raise money for the operations of the Missing Children's Foundation. After months of planning for the gathering, the night of the dance finally arrived.

The DJ for the evening was Kidd Kraddick of the popular radio station KEGG in Dallas. His unique blend of humor and good music provided hours of entertainment for the students from the three area high schools. The dance proved to be very successful in terms of amusement, as well as in terms of funds raised for this worthy cause.

The road to Texas independence was long and hard, but well worth the fight. Our brave ancestors battled against incredible forces to prove that the state of Texas was a truly great one. In the Battle of the Alamo, men like Davy Crockett and Jim Bowie valiantly defended their territory in hopes of delaying the pressing Mexican forces. Bravely struggling throughout the next month, the Texans were able to issue a Declaration of Independence on March 2, 1836 at Washington-on-the-Brazos. The final step of gaining complete and total independence came on April 21 when Sam Houston defeated the Mexican armies at the Battle of San Jacinto.

One hundred and fifty years later Texans celebrated the heroic actions of these and others of their brave ancestors. Festivities throughout the state, like the one in Dallas' Fair Park attended by Vice-President George Bush, marked the Sesquicentennial celebration — as every citizen was proud to be a Texan.

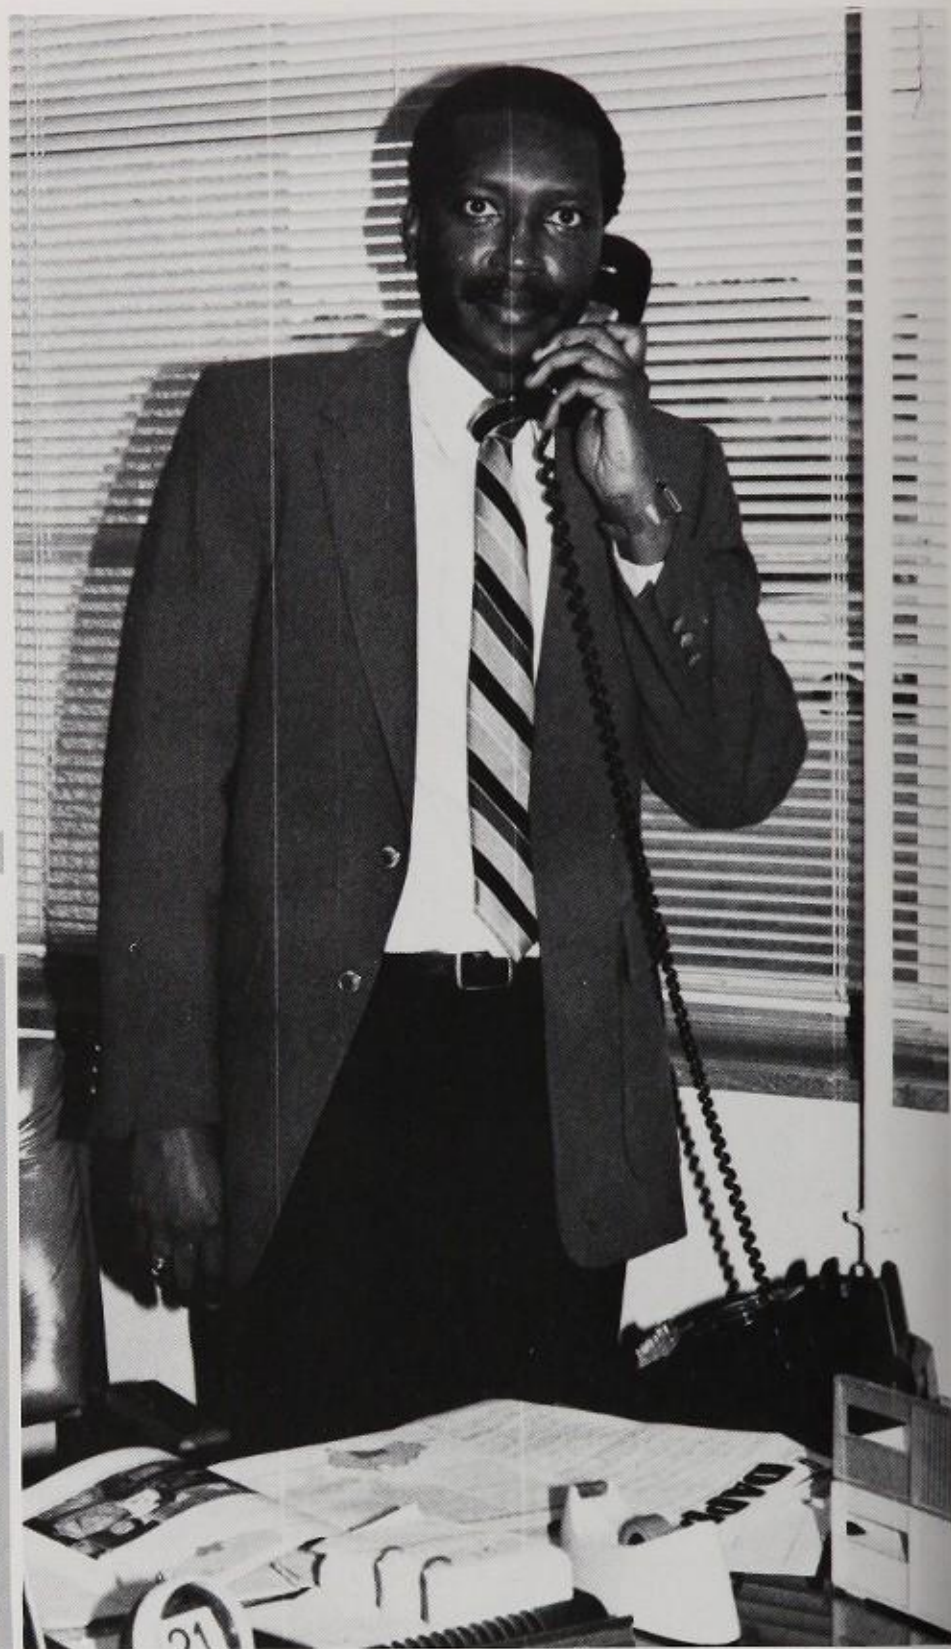

The Directors

The faculty and administrators of W. T. White make up the directors of our high school. Mr. Woolery has completed his fourth year as head director of the best high school in Dallas. His great talents and skills have greatly improved the already terrific school. This talented director has the aid of three assistants, each in charge of a different aspect of the entire production. Mrs. Lassiter, as dean of instruction, works directly with the contributing directors, the teachers. Mr. Ramirez is in charge of transportation to the set and also keeps the actors in line. Dr. Woodrow oversees extracurricular activities and helps to discipline those temperamental actors. This excellent group of executive directors is supported by over one hundred talented contributing directors. The contributing directors oversee the actual production of the scenes. W. T. White has assembled a large group of the finest teachers in Dallas. These directors make sure the actors have learned their lines correctly and help the actors in any way they possibly can. The directors prepare the actors for the biggest screen test of all, "life in the real world", where a student's twelve years of education are put to use. The directors specialize in many fields, including the basics: english, math, history, and science. W. T. White also offers the widest range of electives taught by an excellent staff. The directors guide actors to pursue other movie contracts at colleges and universities, or prepare them for other employment outside the industry. The other staff employed on the set is also greatly appreciated and recognized as necessary elements in the production of a terrific high school. The student body of W. T. White owes great thanks to the administrators and the faculty who have led them to greatness.

... And Justice For All

Possibly the hardest and most demanding task at W. T. White is that of fulfilling the duties of an administrator. And this past year, our four principals — Mr. Woolery, Mrs. Lassiter, Dr. Woodrow, and Mr. Ramirez — have certainly performed well and even gone beyond the requirements of their positions. Not only did they handle the areas of discipline, maintenance, and finance in the school, but they also dealt with the individual problems of the students. Our administrators always made sure that every school day ran smoothly, and they also always seemed to take time out to address the personal needs of the student body. The entire staff of teachers and all of the students were thankful for the outstanding services that they gave.

Around The World With Mrs. Davis

Edna Davis teaches world history and European history at W. T. White. Mrs. Davis is not an ordinary history teacher. A class taught by her is not just a barrage of people, places, and dates. A class with Mrs. Davis is a study of arts, ideas, and customs in addition to people, places, and dates pertaining to any topic. Part of her knowledge comes from actual experience. Mrs. Davis loves to travel and has been to places all over Europe and Asia, most of them more than once. She has quite a collection of items from all over the world. By sharing these items and her unique experiences, Edna Davis makes history come alive in vivid detail.

Author, Author!

Mona Sizer teaches English and Creative Writing at W.T. White. Throughout four years of high school, a student has several opportunities to learn from her. She teaches freshman and junior honors English courses, and her creative writing class is open to all students. Besides being a teacher, Mrs. Sizer is also a writer, dancer, and painter among other things. After pursuing a writing career for several years, she had her first novel, Love Stone, published in 1982. Since then, two more books, Love Spell and Love Fire, have been published. With several other books in the making, her career as a writer grows with success each day. W.T. White is proud to have Mona Sizer, a published writer, as one of its many superb teachers.

The Science Of Films

Our own chemistry teacher and part-time film connoisseur, Mr. Moore, is a person with a wide range of interests. Bringing new excitement to a chemistry class with puzzles and games combined with study and work, he taught science courses at W.T. White, but also found time to lead a mass media class, too. His avid interest in films was particularly fitting with the theme of this year's yearbook. When not teaching or enjoying movies, Mr. Moore also likes to restore old cars. Every morning his vintage Cadillac can be seen rolling into the faculty parking lot at the school. Outside of school, Mr. Moore is a man of many talents; and at W.T. White his is an incredible asset to the teaching staff.

A Soldier's Story

Bobby Jones teaches history at W.T. White. He has taught both American and world history. He prefers to teach world history because, as a veteran of World War II, he lived that part of history. Through firsthand knowledge, he can bring meaning to great battles and dates of history. Specifically, Mr. Jones enhances the history of any subject making it more appealing to a student.

The Music Man

Mr. Derle Long, head director of the W.T. White marching band, has certainly improved the musical program at the school this past year. This improvement can be seen in the various accomplishments of the band — including performances for Vice-President George Bush and for the grand opening of Macy's Department Store in Galleria. But probably the greatest honor came when Mr. Long announced to the band that they would be playing in Macy's annual Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York. Mr. Long, a graduate of LSU with a masters in music education, has helped the W.T. White band to become local and national celebrities.

The Awards

W.T. White is proud to announce the winners of the many awards given to students annually. Competition is present everywhere and in every field and W.T. White seems to sweep every category. Honors may be bequeathed in many different ways. Perhaps the most coveted honor is one awarded by the recipient's peers. All the winners chosen by their equals are set apart by the distinction that their classmates respect them and have pride in them. They are recognized for their contributions as students at W.T. White. Many others are rewarded for their achievements. Whether the cast has excelled academically, musically, athletically, or in the arts, the remainder of the school is proud of them. The directors of this production stress achievement for personal reasons rather than for the accumulation of honors. The high standards that students place on themselves encourage them to excel above the mediocrity of the masses. The numerous honors bestowed upon individuals by nationwide, statewide, or regional organizations serve to spotlight W.T. White's high standing among all students. The school's own awards to superior students give recognition to the recipients as important assets to the set as a whole. The many outstanding members of the W.T. White cast are honored to connect their celebrity with their great high school. Academic competition teams bring even more recognition to W.T. White as they compete against other schools. Not only do these contests provide mental exercise for the participants, they also give W.T. White a forum in which to display its fantastic stars. The stars of W.T. White have excelled in every field imaginable. The nominees for the high school with the greatest student achievement are Hillcrest, W.T. White, Thomas Jefferson, and Jesuit. And the winner is . . . W.T. White, for the twenty-first year in a row.

God's Favorite!

The 1985 Senior Play, God's Favorite!, was heavenly. Complete with saints and a messenger from God, the play rose to new heights. This Neil Simon play was an update of the biblical story of Job. Each actor worked many long hours to perfect his part, and the effect was angelical. The sponsors Ms. Harrison and Ms. Stengel, added their infinite wisdom to make the play a success. God's Favorite! was a favorite of W.T. White.

Quill and Scroll is an honorary organization made up of members involved in a journalistic course that maintain a grade point average of 3.0. The organization participated in the UIL journalism competition at Skyline High School. The competition consisted of writing headlines, editorials, news manuscripts, and special features.

Real Genius

Mu Alpha Theta is a national high school honorary mathematics club. In order to qualify for the club, one must have a grade point average of at least 3.5 in two years of college preparatory math and a 3.0 average in all other subjects. For the new members of the club, there was an initiation ceremony in which they took a pledge and were presented certificates. The annual banquet in the spring was one of Mu Alpha Theta's big events. All members had a very good time.

4² Candles

The W.T. White math team has been quite busy this year. Students from all grades participated in various contests throughout the year. Competitions covered subject from Algebra I to Advanced Computer. The team participated in the Texas State Mathematics League by taking a series of six tests throughout the school year.

Whiz Quiz

Whiz Quiz is an academic challenge of the mind. It is a game of quick recall of facts from a variety of subjects. The team took part in a new contest involving sixteen north Texas schools. Highlights of the year included a charity match for Easter Seals and the annual match with the parents of the PTSA, which the students won for the first time in Whiz Quiz history.

Brainstorm

The Academic Decathlon competition included six tests of academic strength, three demonstrations of communication ability, and the Super Quiz.

In addition to having an interview, submitting a written essay, and giving two prepared speeches, each Decathlon member took comprehensive exams in the fields of economics, fine arts, English and literature, mathematics, science, and social science.

Several team members who earned honors in the competition were: Brad Hudson — bronze in economics, gold in essay, and gold for highest total points scored in the Varsity Division; C.T. Johnson — silver in science; and Billy MacLeod — silver in essay.

The Championship and Novice Debate teams persuaded and orated their ways through a year of tremendous accomplishments. Standard debate teams as well as extemporaneous speakers participated in the annual St. Marks Invitational Tournament. The squad then entered the debate competition at R.L. Turner — with some teams advancing to the final elimination rounds. The next tournament of the year was held at South Garland, which was followed by one at Hockaday. After the regular debate season was over, both squads began preparing for UIL competition. With strong support from Coach Barbara Friedman, the team fared well in standard debate, extemporaneous speaking, and prose. This wave of success continued into the regional meet, also. At the annual debate banquet, squad members looked back on a year filled with hard work, triumphs, and good times.

Honor Jackets are earned by the students who have made straight A's for an entire school year. The students received the jackets at a ceremony during a fall PTSA meeting. Students who have made straight A's for two entire school years received honorary certificates.

You Oughta Be In Pictures

The Thespians have traditionally been an organization similar to the Drama Club. The students in the group developed, sharpened, and exhibited their acting skills by learning and performing various plays for class and for competitions throughout the year. The members also enjoyed traveling as a group to local Dallas theaters to watch professional play productions.

The Sound Of Music

Several students in W.T. White's band and choir participated in outstanding events. In the band, these honors included All City Band, All District Band, All State Orchestra, Area Band Qualifier, and All State Band. In the Choir, honors were Zone Choir and District Audition. The honors received showed how excellent our band and choir were this year.

The Champs

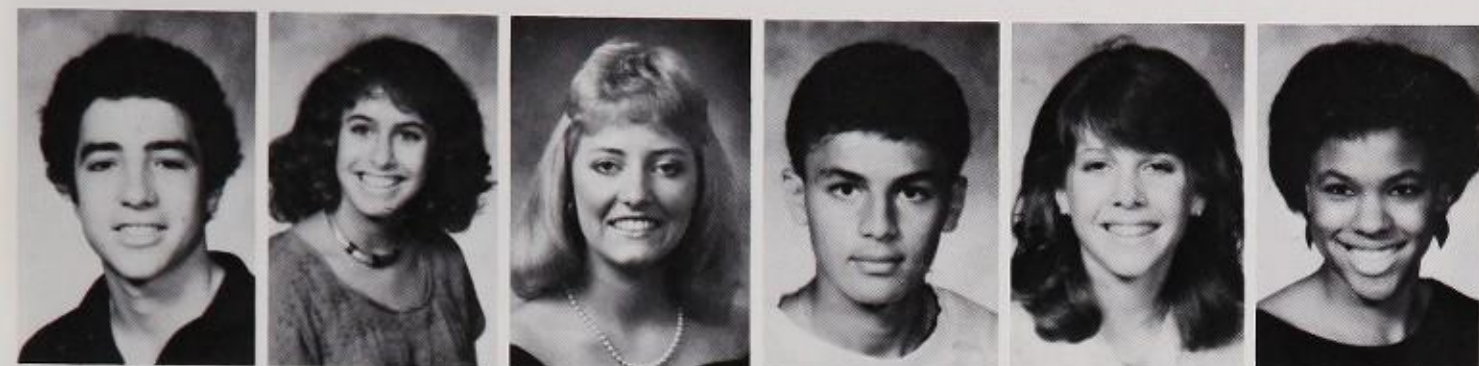

This year many students were given awards for their outstanding accomplishments in sports. Having had an excellent season, the volleyball, football, and soccer teams received many awards. Other Longhorn teams had not yet finished their season to receive their awards. All teams were congratulated for their remarkable work this year.

Student Office Assistants

Student office assistants provide much support to our school offices. The students are sent around the building to search for other students, deliver messages, and to run errands. They do odd jobs for the secretaries, principals, counselors, librarians, and nurses. The student office assistants play an important role in our school.

The Crew

The various clubs and organizations make up the backbone of W.T. White. Like a movie crew, they are essential to the final production: a fantastic school with a great student body and over one hundred extra-curricular activities. From spirit organizations to language clubs, the groups make students want to participate. Each member of the W.T. White cast can find his or her place somewhere among the wide variety of organizations. The spirit groups offer students an opportunity to display their school pride during production as well as outside the set. The performing groups have represented W.T. White well this year and have earned many awards for their fantastic achievements. The rewards of success have come to all groups in one form or another in response to their great efforts for the school. They have, however, declined every opportunity to join other casts. Some of the crew have spent their time learning about the professional world in order to help them in their efforts after high school. As successes in their fields, these students are but another reason to have pride in W.T. White. The language clubs and other class-related organizations serve to enhance the cast's interest and activity in all aspects of that subject. As they represent their high school in competitions all through the country, these clubs depict our school's enthusiasm for learning and competitive nature. Another essential organization is the crew which has produced this review of the 1985-86 school year. This group has surveyed, analyzed and hopefully captured the spirit of this unforgettable year. Working together, all of W.T. White's organizations are the means by which our school is seen by others in a non-academic way. Test scores and demographic statistics can in no way portray the essence of W.T. White: full of the life, energy and spirit of 1600 teenagers.

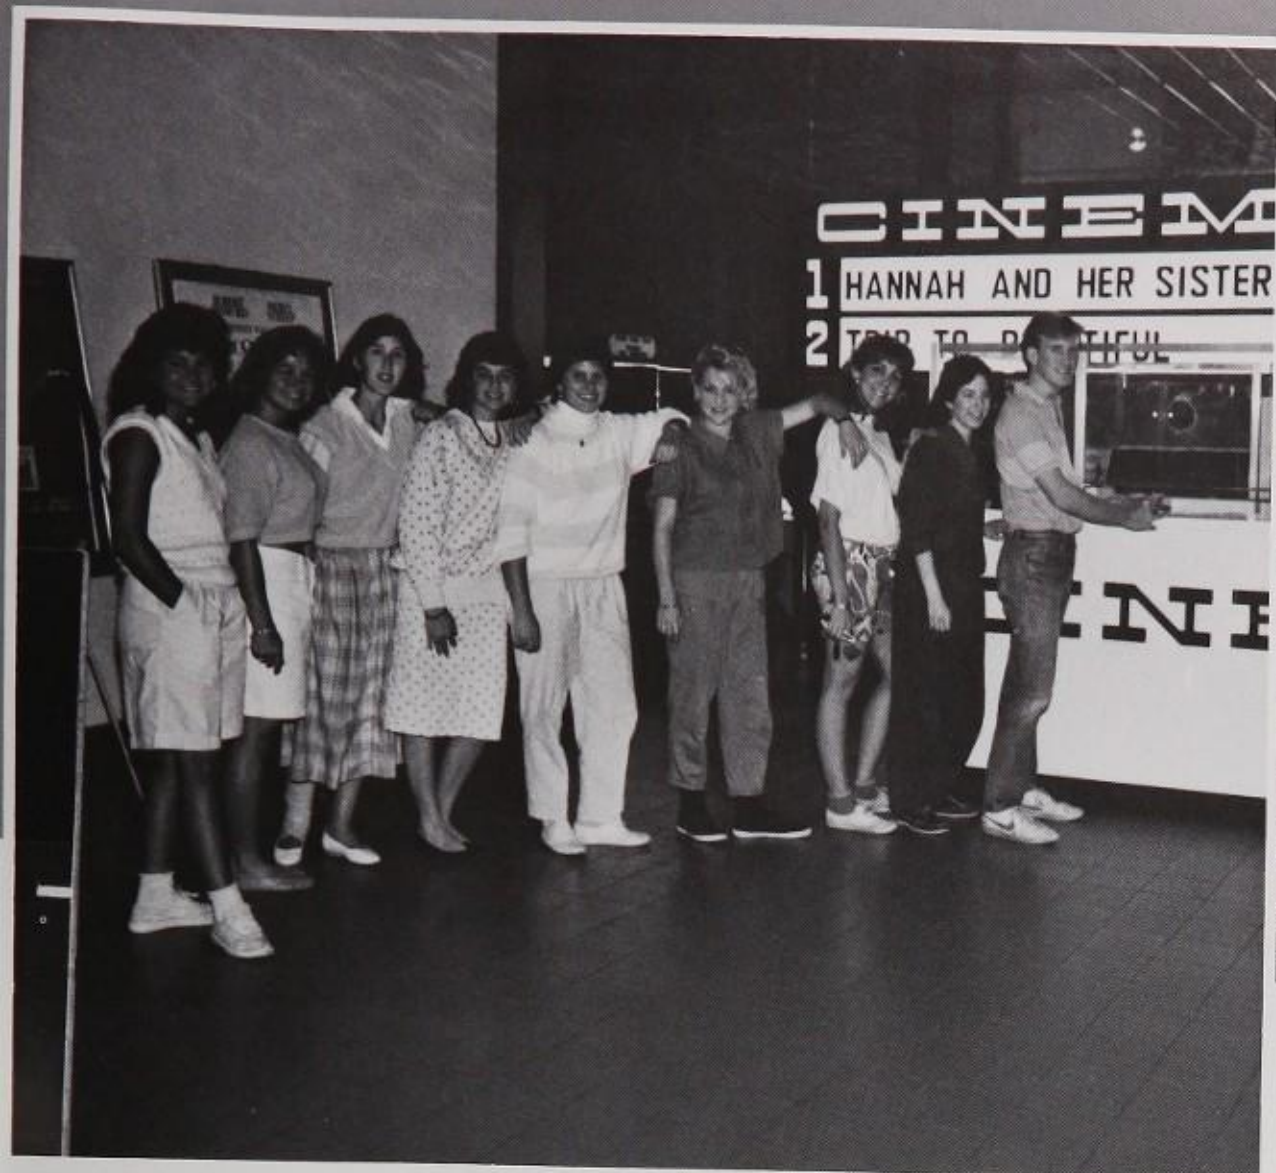

After Hours

The thirty-one members of the SAGA staff worked many long hours before, during, and after school to complete this yearbook. Each deadline brought more and more responsibility to everyone. Producing a completed work that will be the only piece of high school memorabilia that many W.T. White graduates will keep was a heavy burden on this elite group of sophomores, juniors and seniors. They chose to give up many nights, weekends, and holidays to create a book that will commemorate all aspects of this school year. The creative minds behind this production attempted to capture the world situation as well as the character of high school in this chronicle of the 1985-86 school year.

The Senior Executive Board enjoyed a year filled with various fundraisers and activities. The group started the year early in the summer with car washes and swimming parties. As the school year started, the Board held a back to school dance in the gym to raise funds for their upcoming activities. These events included a spaghetti supper with slave auction; the senior carnival — Street Scenes 85; steak dinner at the Traildust; and various other dances ranging from the Friday the 13th dance, the Luau dance to the Valentine's Day dance in February. The hours of fundraising were well worth it, as the seniors staged a wonderful Sadie Hawkins dance at the Cowboy Club and enjoyed an excellent Senior Prom at the Registry Hotel. This year's Senior Executive Board worked hard to prove that they truly were the greatest class at W.T. White.

The 1985-86 Student Council had an exciting year. The council was made up of a group of representatives and alternate members chosen from each first period class and the elected officers who were chosen by the student body. The Student Council was in charge of the 1985 Homecoming dance which was held at the Park Suite Hotel. The Student Council also became involved in supporting the Dance for Missing Children which was held at the Westin Hotel. This dance was a group effort by several area high schools to raise funds for the search of missing children. The council also participated in a community service project and collected canned goods for the needy during the holiday season. The 1985-86 Student Council was extremely active and helpful in planning events for the students of W. T. White High School this past year.

The 1985-86 Varsity Cheerleaders were a unique team this year. This was the largest squad and the first in many years to have four male members. The Varsity Cheerleaders attended many camps and competitions bringing back many honors for W.T. White. They received spirit sticks, trophies, and first place ribbons for their outstanding spirit and quality cheering. Among some of their outside activities; they cheered during halftime at the Dallas Mavericks' games and participated in the N.T.S.U./N.C.A. Cheerleading camp.

This year's squad become more active in other sports besides the football games. They were always there to lend support and spirit to the varsity football players, but also to the boy's soccer team.

This year, however, there was a new twist to their regularly scheduled events. The varsity cheerleaders challenged the Baby Bulls to a powder puff football game. Laying aside their usual roles, they took to the field, bringing home a victory of 18-0. The L.P.C. and L.E.I. took over as cheerleaders, keeping the crowds lively. Indeed, this has been an exciting year for the 1985-86 Cheerleaders, full of fun, hard work, pride and spirit that none will ever forget.

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders have had a very exciting year. Aside from having the largest J.V. squad at W. T. White to date, they also have the first male member in many years. The J.V., like the varsity cheerleaders, have participated in competitions and camps. They have received ribbons and spirit sticks for their performances. This year they have become more involved in cheering other games than football. They show their school spirit while cheering on the Girl's Soccer Team. The J.V. also lent a hand in the Powder Puff football game between the Cheerleaders and the Baby Bulls. The J.V., to the wonderment of the Baby Bulls, scored all the touchdowns. These are a truly talented and dedicated group of spirit leaders; they are surely destined to go all the way to the top!

Amid the dark clutter of various unknown and insignificant spirit groups shone a particular bright spot in the crowd. One group of extremely spirited and outstanding young men transcended all barriers and reached heights never achieved by any group in the past. This tremendous bunch of seniors guys was the Longhorn Enthusiasm Incorporated spirit group. During the past year they represented the peak of perfection that other groups hope to reach, but never do. LEI was organized two years ago to revive the decreased spirit level of the school caused by a lazy, apathetic senior class. As juniors, LEI showed their true colors (a familiar dark brown) by rising above the seniors to become the driving force behind W.T. White. Continuing on this wave of enthusiasm, the group of thirty entered their senior years intent upon making '86 a number to remember. LEI was always present at pep rallies and games, and also replaced a less significant spirit group in helping the cheerleaders hold the banner at halftime during the football games. LEI continued their support of athletic teams by cheering on the baseball, basketball, and soccer teams. With some of the most successful, intelligent, friendly, witty, and spirited people in the school, LEI showed that they were the best spirit group that W.T. White had ever seen.

Established five years ago, the Baby Bulls are the oldest and most distinguished girls spirit organization at W. T. White. The girls set the precedent for newer spirit groups that have been formed lately. The group of twenty-six juniors and seniors was present at every pep assembly, despite the fact that the pep assemblies were held at 7:30 in the morning before school. The Baby Bulls showed their school pride by wearing their white and orange uniforms on game days. This amazing spirit carried over into football games where the Baby Bulls cheered the Longhorn team to victory. At the games and pep assemblies the spirit group helped the cheerleaders by participating in cheers and chants. In a great show of unity, the girls traded their white uniforms for the orange coveralls of the LPC or the brown uniforms of LEI for one game.

All the spirit groups worked together with the football team and the cheerleaders to create a lot of school spirit. For the '50's day pep assembly, the Baby Bulls performed a skit and a dance routine to songs from the movie "Grease". The hours of rehearsal paid off that morning when the group performed on stage in rolled-up jeans and saddle oxfords with bobby socks to strains of "Greased Lightning". The Baby Bulls also competed in a powder puff football game against the cheerleaders. The group put a lot of time and effort into practicing with some of the best Longhorn varsity football players to compete in the game and support the cheerleaders. The Baby Bulls have shown great support for all of W.T. White through their spirited activities.

The Few.
The Proud.
The L.P.C.

The Longhorn Petroleum corporation has come to be viewed as a tradition at W.T. White High School. For one decade the bright orange coveralls have given meaning to the word "spirit". The L.P.C. is a group of eight seniors and one junior who represent school morale, unity and good times for all. Part of their duties as a uniformed spirit club included helping the cheerleaders at pep rallies and football games, participating in skits and other school activities, and keeping school spirit alive. The 1985-86 L.P.C. will always be remembered and loved for their incredible talent in ballet and their witty impersonations of the Beach Boys.

The Longhorn Company

The Longhorn Company is a group of nineteen senior and junior girls who's spirit and enthusiasm are welcomed additions at W.T. White. Although the TLC is still a newer spirit club, their activities have been helpful. Among their duties, they have helped and encouraged the cheerleaders and attended many football games to help raise spirit. During the summer months they got together for parties and to hold car washes and garage sales. In the past two years they have made a permanent mark on W.T. White High School.

The Off Season Club gave extra spirit not only on the field but also off. Traditionally, the OSC is a group of outstanding athletes who keep the competitive spirit alive. W.T. White is proud of the fantastic football players. The club has activities during the off season such as lifting weights and working out. The OSC has made the 1985-86 school year a great one.

The Longhorn Spirit Corp. is the newest member of spirit groups. Members include freshman, sophomore, and junior girls. These spirited girls can be spotted at pep-rallies and football games wearing navyblue coveralls. This year the LSC held garage sales and bake sales to raise funds. Next year the LSC hopes to be more involved in school activities.

The Caballeras had a busy and exciting year. The new officers and the new line members attended a line camp at SMU during the summer. The girls worked very hard and received many outstanding awards. Before school was officially open, the Caballeras were hard at work in the gym for many hours learning routines for the upcoming football season. Along with the band, the Caballeras gave a different and exciting performance each game. Each Caballera drew a secret football player to support and give small gifts to during the season. The Caballeras had their annual Drill Team/Football picnic. It was a BIG success. The Caballeras had a great year.

The Miracle On 34th Street

The W.T. White Longhorn Band began their hard work in the sweltering heat of the summer months. The band members worked hard to perfect the exciting West Side Story contest show designed by director Derle Long. The band was enthusiastically received by the fans and earned excellent ratings at the UIL Marching Band Contest. Among the exciting events the band took part in was a performance for Vice President George Bush at the United States League of Savings Institutions Convention.

The members of the Longhorn Band became national celebrities when they received an invitation to perform at the grand opening of the Macy's department store in the Galleria. Macy's officials were extremely impressed by the band's performance and awarded them the honor of being the official Texas marching band in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York. The members of the band were proud and very excited to have been one of the twelve bands selected across the country to participate in this Thanksgiving extravaganza. During the two months following the invitation, the students performed and worked with the Band Booster Club in various fundraising activities. The ninety-two band members and their parents breathed sighs of relief after a benefit concert by the Vocal Majority helped them to achieve their final goal of $38,000 for the four day trip to New York City. Eighty million people viewed the Longhorn Band on national television as the band made Texas a hit on Broadway.

Can't Stop The Music

As the new year approached, Mr. Long and the hard working members of the Longhorn Marching Band channeled their talents into producing a whole new sound. Marching charts were turned in for sheets of band music such as the Christmas classics that the entire band performed at their Christmas concert. Later the band was divided into two separate groups, the Wind Ensemble and the Symphonic Band, with placement in each based on individual ability. On February 12th a concert that included both bands was held to honor the great composer, Clifton Williams. Howard Dunn was guest conductor. The bands participated in district, regional, and state-wide contests throughout the year and achieved excellent ratings. One of these contests, the Buccaneer Music Festival, took them to Corpus Christi. Success came to individuals as well as to the band as a whole. Several students made the All-City, All Region and All-State bands. All in all the band had a record-breaking year.

All That Jazz

The Stage Band added to the 1985-86 music program and it many successes. The hard-working musicians performed in the Christmas and spring concerts, as well as various special events. They carried on their tradition of receiving excellent ratings at the Buccaneer Music Festival in Corpus Christi. They also received superior ratings at the UIL Solo and Ensemble Contest, and went on to perform exceptionally well at the All-State Contest.

This year was one of the finest ever for the W. T. White Choir. From the first day of school, the W. T. White choirs, directed by Patricia Stengal, have sung out loud and clear. Their winter concert created a winter wonderland in the auditorium. The concert was filled with the best of voice and showmanship, complete with a special appearance by Frosty the Snowman. In the spring, members of the choirs participated in DISD and UIL Solo and Ensemble contests and received many superior ratings. The high point of the year for the Madrigal Choir was a trip to San Antonio to compete in a choir contest. Members of the Longhorn Madrigal Choir and The Real Edition sang their hearts out in a fantastic performance of the pop show "America Sings." The members of the W. T. White choirs can look back on this year with pride in a song well sung.

The French Connection

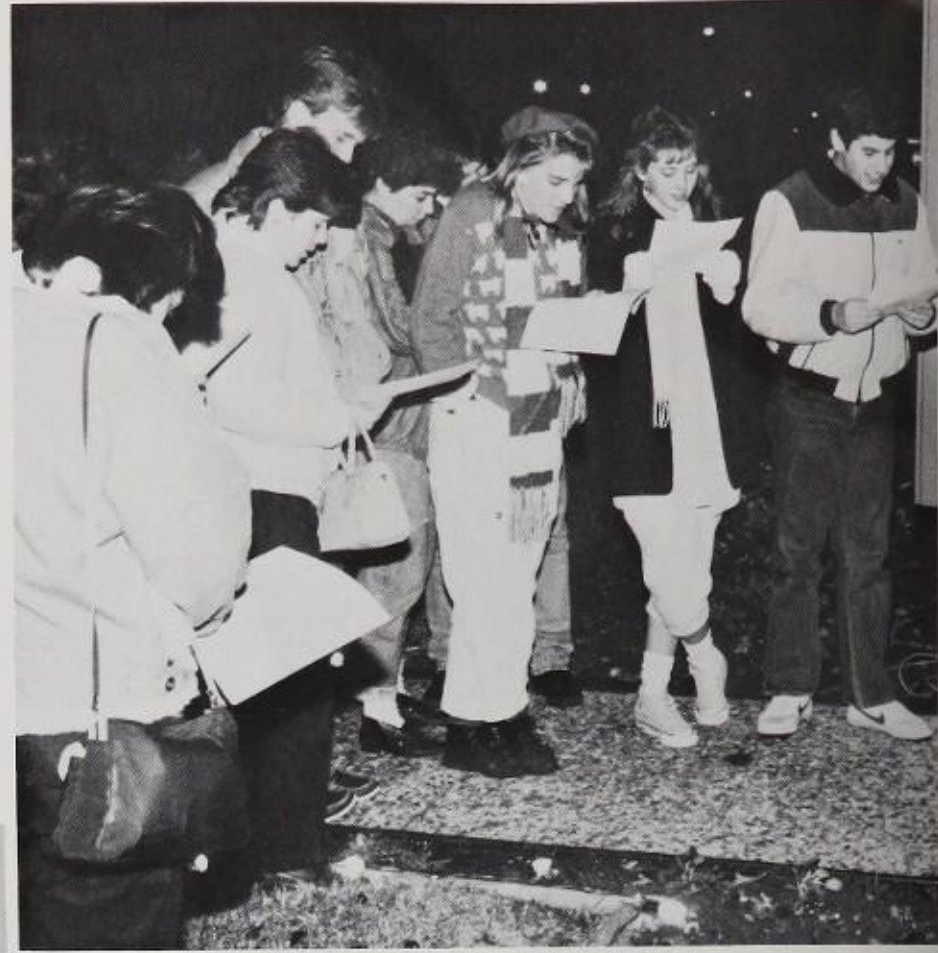

In accordance with the rest of W. T. White, the French Club had a fantastic year. Meetings and activities were planned by the officers to increase interest in and knowledge of the French culture, language, cuisine, history and current events. The year began with a challenging test of the members' ability to speak the language. A scavenger hunt held in October was a great success as members were sent running all over Churchill Park in search of clues written in French. Students who had had experiences in France were welcomed to speak about their trips as a learning experience for all. During the Yuletide season, the French Club went caroling and exchanged gifts. The progressive dinner held in January gave members an opportunity to enjoy a taste of French cuisine. A costume contest and party was held in celebration of Mardi Gras. In February, several members of the club attended the Austin College Foreign Language Weekend and returned to Dallas with over one dozen blue ribbons. Alternate festivities for the weekend were held at Lake Texoma. The next month, many French Club students took the National French Test, an extremely difficult standardized test. For Monte Carlo Night, the French Club gambled casino-style and later held an auction to spend their winnings. At the April meeting, members truly tested their knowledge of the French culture and language as they played a game of French Trivial Pursuit, which was made up entirely by club members. The May banquet and installation of officers was a grand success to top off a fabulous French-filled year.

The Spanish Club is an organization for students enrolled in Spanish who are interested in learning more about culture in Spanish speaking countries, and who are interested in meeting other people. Spanish Club activities commenced with a Mexican Fiesta. They were also responsible for decorating a Christmas tree during the holiday season. The Spanish Club participated at contest both in Sherman and San Antonio. The Spanish Club threw several fundraisers and finished the year with another great Mexican Fiesta.

The German Club had a difficult reputation to maintain., With a tradition of excellence to continue, great responsibilities were placed upon each member of the largest club at W. T. White. In the wake of this honored position, the 1985-1986 Deutsche Verein had an outstanding year. The German Club opened with an Oktoberfest celebration, an event to help members become acquainted with each other. Next came the area wide German contest, Novemberfest. For the first time, the academic trophy went home to W. T. White, not to mention the culture trophy and the trophy for "Most Points Accumulated Overall." German Club was not all work and no play. In the late fall a troupe of authentic Austrian dancers performed for W. T. White students and faculty, later celebrating with an All-American party. The annual holiday Strudel Bake was a huge success and all went home full! In February, Fasching (a German Mardi Gras) was held at Jamz Teen Club. With a majority of the German Club enjoying dancing, contests, and food, it was a gigantic success. In the Spring, the state contest in Austin was held and once again the W. T. White German Club represented our school very well. None of the events, whether academic or social, could have been accomplished without the constructive leadership of the Club's executive board and its immensely dedicated sponsor.

Distributive Education Class of America (DECA) is a vocational type class for students who work in the evenings or plan to work in the future. DECA concentrated on consumer use, job interviews, ad layouts, and other aspects of a successful job. DECA also covers basic computer and literary skills. DECA competes in local and state competition. DECA contributes greatly to W. T. White by supporting our school with the money generated from their fundraisers. DECA, led by Mr. Morrow, is definitely a positive product of W. T. White.

The Stuntmen

The athletes of W.T. White act as stuntmen for the school. They accept the risks of sport to compete with each other and other schools. When they succeed, the whole school rejoices in their victory. Any student who harbors athletic dreams can fulfill them vicariously through W.T. White's fantastic sports program. A timid freshman viewing the successes of the Longhorn football, soccer, basketball, or baseball teams may be inspired to join any of the assorted teams. For those without the talent to play sports, Longhorn athletics have become excellent spectator sports. Hundreds of students, parents, and teachers flock to games every week. As our stuntmen battle it out on the field with TJ, Hillcrest or Carter, the stadium resounds with cheers and chants from Longhorn fans. In a time when great school rivalries are not settled by fists, the stuntmen prove W.T. White's greatness out on the field. Everyone shares the athletes' pain and excitement; their victories become the student body's victories; their losses are our losses. In their roles as stuntmen, they take the fall for the entire school. The other students rarely see the true work involved in preparation for competition. The athletes are sometimes taken for granted as they perform with ease the maneuvers they have toiled years to perfect. The unsung athlete is, in his or her own way, an unrecognized stuntman. The public views only their completed or successful projects, not all the practice, training and foiled attempts. W.T. White's unfailing support of their sports program has helped the athletes to strive for achievement, not only for themselves and their teammates, but also for their fans and their school. In the following pages, the screenwriters have attempted to capture the W.T. White stuntmen in the way we will all remember them - in action.

District play opened with a blow to the Horns as Skyline defeated White 24-21. In spite of defeat by the Raiders, the Longhorns made great strides in off-field performance by defeating the alias "no pass, no play rule" with great success. Success off the field payed off as the Horns soundly defeated the Sunset Bisons 28-7. Our heroes were sidetracked from glory road in their next game as the Kimball Knights beat W. T. White 7-3. The climax of the season came at the Homecoming game where the Horns longtime archrivals the T.J. patriots were humbled by a White victory of 41-8. The Carter Cowboys had a difficult time rustling the Horns and were defeated 23-14, setting the stage for a district playoff spot. A final victory against Pinkston of 28-0 plunged the Longhorns into the playoffs against Plano East. In the most outstanding performance of the year the W. T. White Longhorns were defeated 21-17 in an extremely close contest with the Plano East Panthers.

Inside Moves

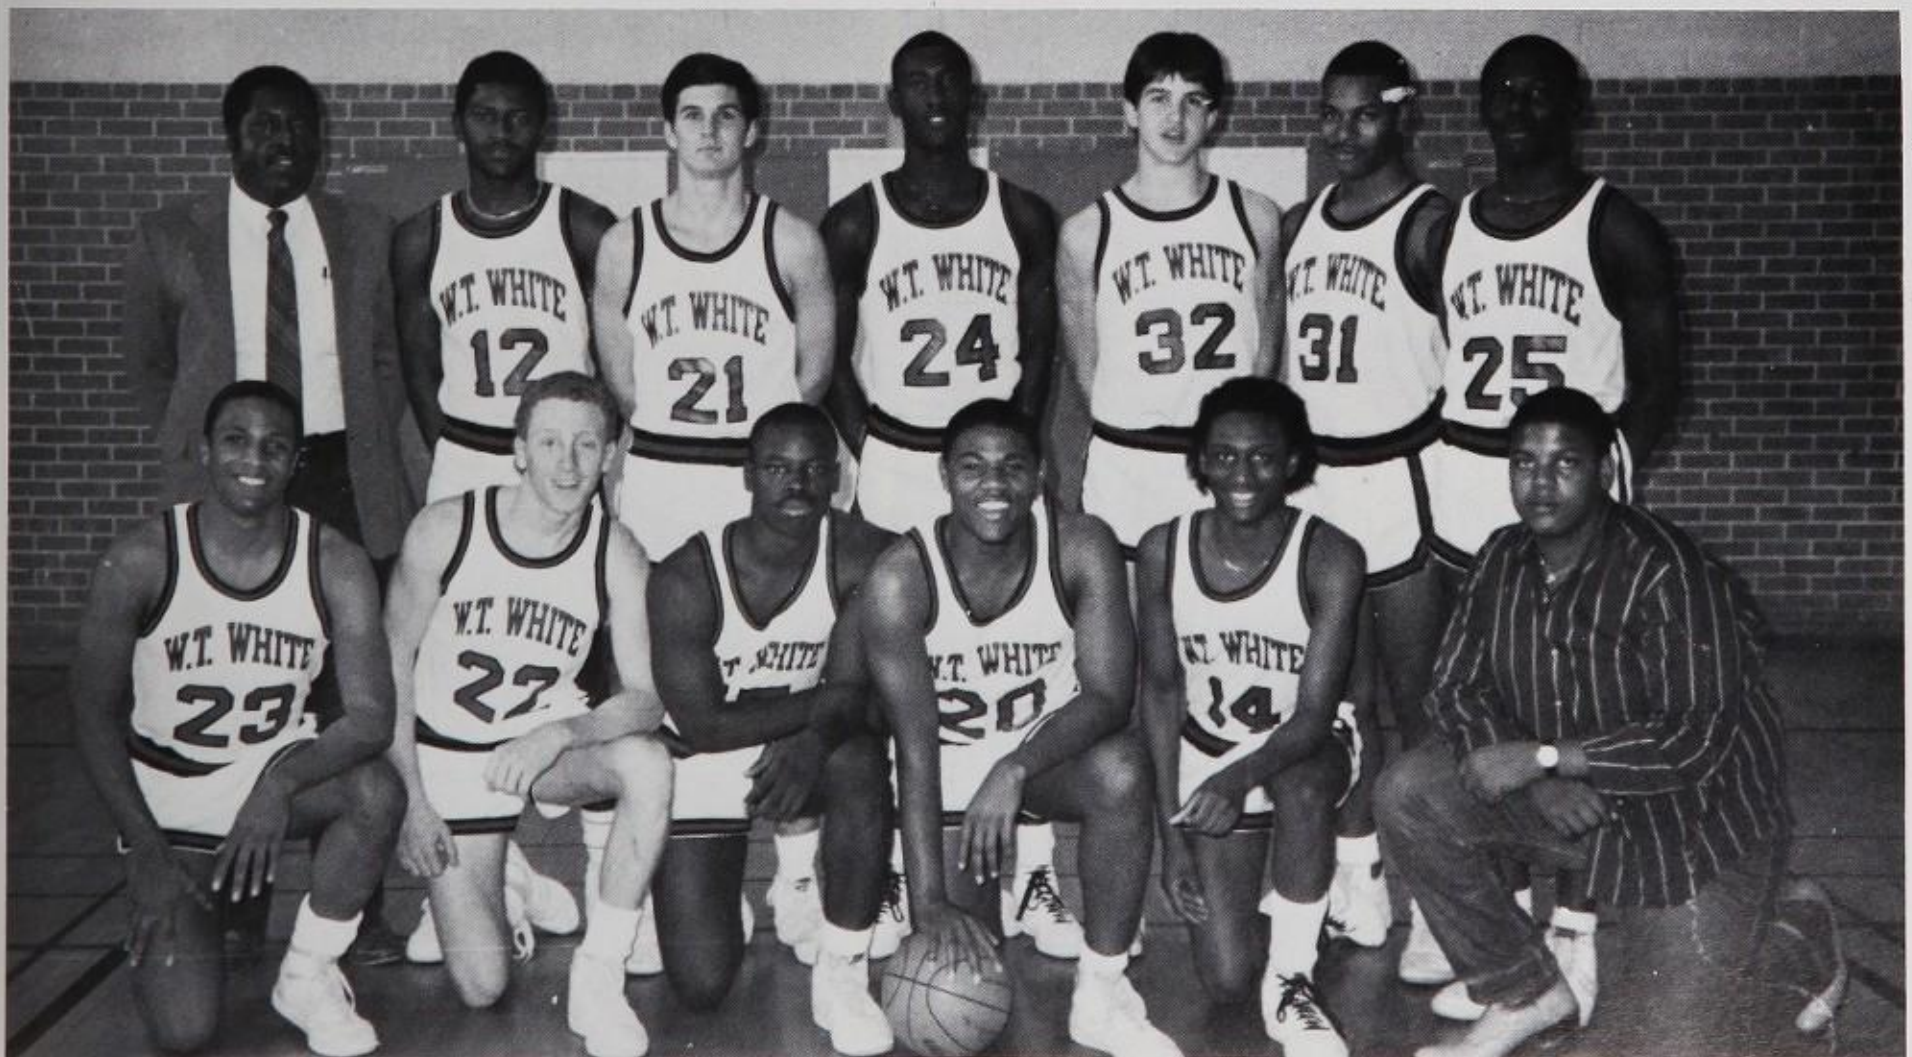

The Longhorn Varsity Basketball team made a vast improvement in both attitude and victories in the 1985-1986 season. Led by Coach Johnny Carter, for the second year, they finished 10-15 and 5-5 in District 11-AAAAA competition. The squad finished strongly winning 5 out of its last 7 games. The streak included a last second win after playoff-bound Pinkston. Individual standouts were Michael Buckner who averaged 16 points per game and 9 rebounds and Michael Johnston who averaged 12 points per game. Throughout the season the team had to contend with injuries and the "no pass-no play" rule. The season ended with a hard-fought 82-78 win over arch-rival Thomas Jefferson.

The Master Touch

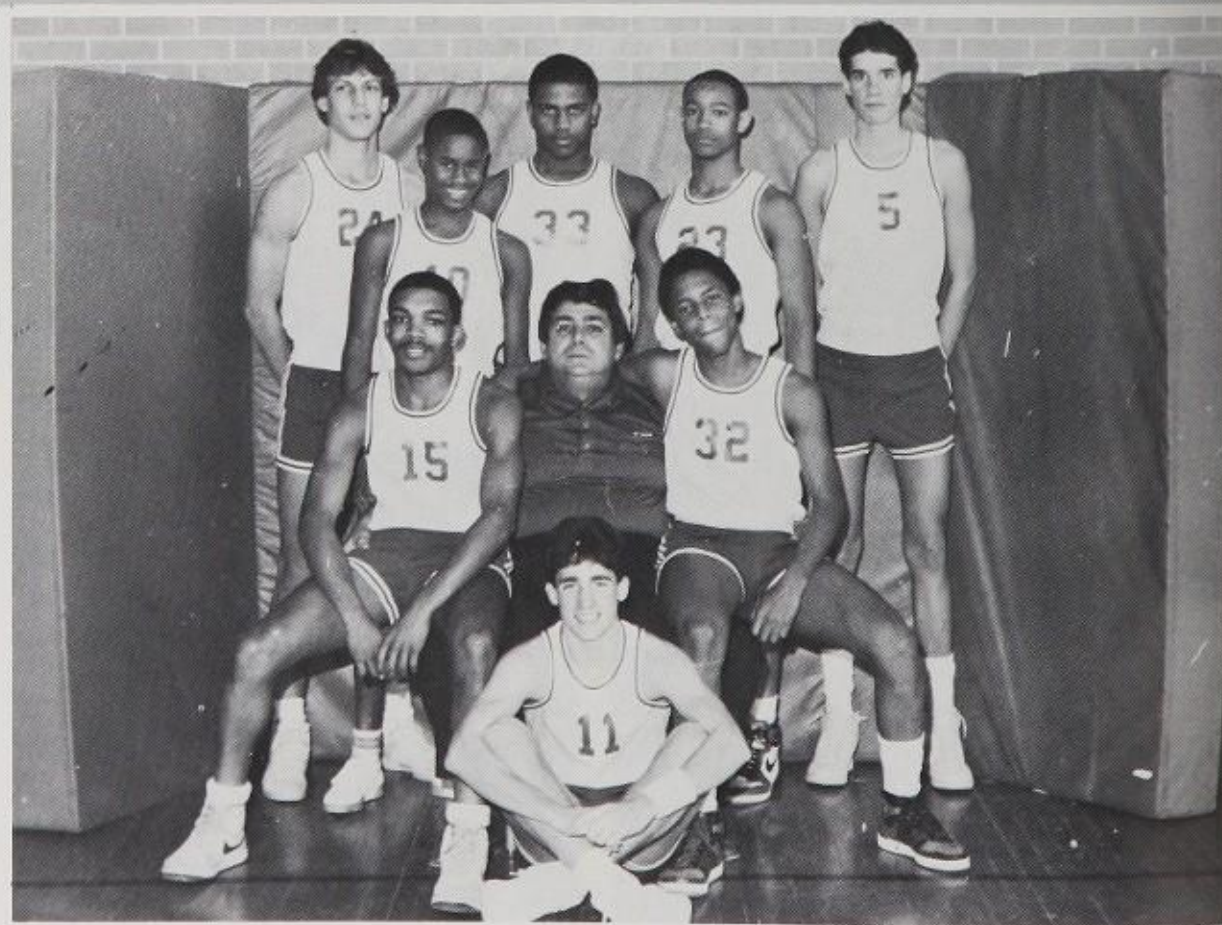

The W. T. White Boys Junior Varsity Basketball team upheld the Longhorn tradition of excellence this year in their performance on the court. The team kept the backboards busy and the opponent in motion as they pushed their way to victory and stardom. With their sportsmanlike conduct and abilities as athletes, the J.V. team holds great promise for an outstanding future.

Hoop It Up!

Freshman Basketball was led by a great deal of pride and teamwork this year. The players worked hard as a unit to accomplish a great deal both on and off the basketball court. A successful season of several victories is assuring to the Longhorns and their future Basketball teams. Good luck and best wishes to these hard-working freshman as they climb their way to glory in the future.

One On One

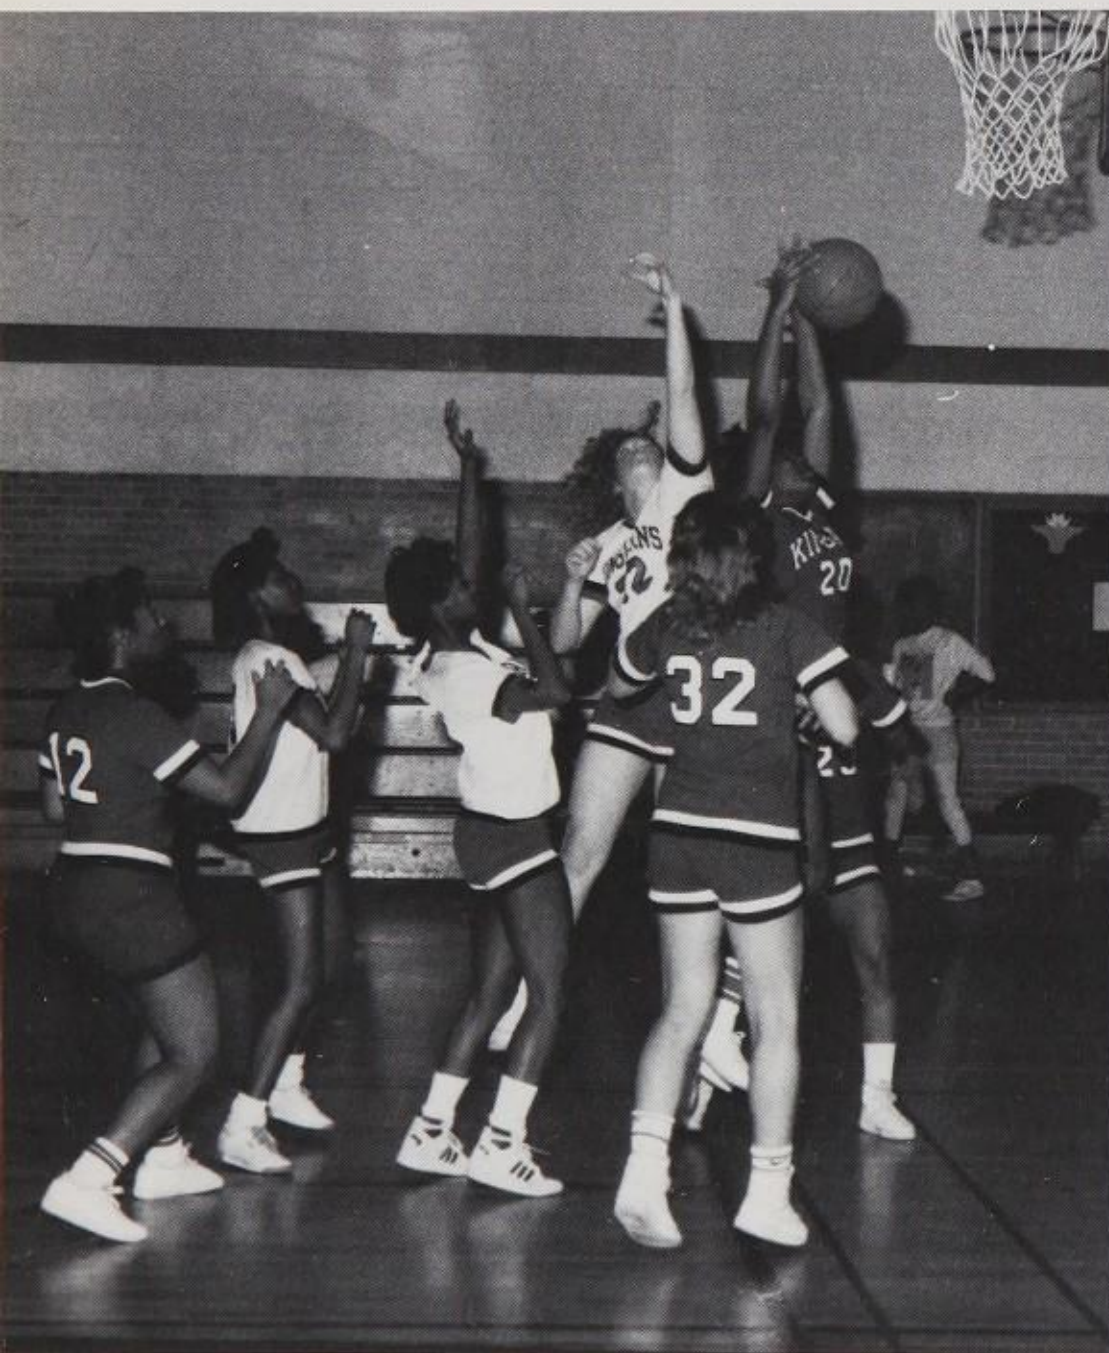

One on one, the W.T. White Girls Varsity Basketball team played their way to the top of the ratings with a powerful combination of team spirit, unity and athletic ability. Led on the court by Coach Hylton, the team worked hard as a unit and individually to have a successful season of challenging conquests.

Basket Case

A successful season for the W.T. White Girls Junior Varsity Basketball team could be seen in their winning record this past year. With great talent and agility on the court, the team played hard — learning valuable techniques to be used in the future. The improvements in this year's squad hold great promise for next year's varsity team.

Footloose

The W.T. White Longhorn Varsity Soccer team cut loose this year on their opponents and marched straight down the road of success. The season was a relatively slow starter with two losses and a tie against a single win versus Kimball, but when regular season play began, the team danced their way to a record of 9 wins and one loss in district 11-A. This record allowed the Horns to participate in post-season competition against some of the finest teams in the state of Texas. Winning regionals in both Waco and Plano, the team looked toward the state championship with high hopes and great ambition. The glory road, however, ended against North Mesquite in a controversial game that left the Longhorns defeated 1-0. The students, faculty and parents of W.T. White congratulate the efforts of this most outstanding soccer team and look forward to their continued success.

The soccer team was extraordinary this year. Advancing to the Region II finals, the Horns kept their loyal fans excited and captivated with shoot-outs and sudden death overtimes. With Coach Landy at their side, the soccer team intends to go even farther next year.

The Varsity Volleyball team illustrated their many talents through team effort and dedication. The team played to the best of their ability and potential by defeating many opponents. Coach Landy did a very good job in leading the team this year, as several players gained recognition for their outstanding play on the court. Carolyn Colbert won All District and Ellen Landenberger won Honorable Mention.

Through the thrills of victory and the agonies of defeat, the J.V. Volleyball team stood strong and proud. Under the able leadership of Coach Eltzroth, this year's team played hard on the court and never failed to live up to her expectations. On and off the court, the team exemplified the qualities of true Longhorns by playing with sportsmanship and hard work.

Love On The Run

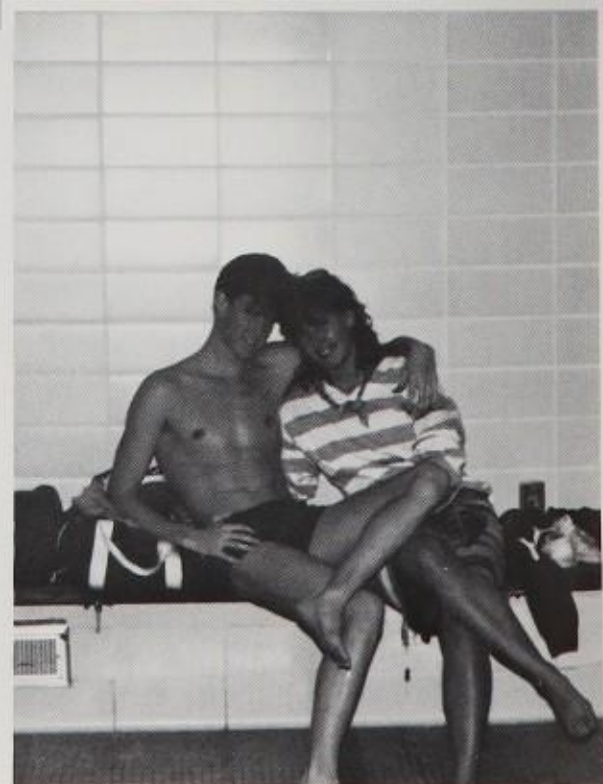

The Tennis Team at W.T. White continued to live up to its reputation of winning performances and outstanding sportsmanship this past year. Practices at Brookhaven College and Country Club helped the squad place well in District Competition, as well as at other meets throughout the season.

The Varsity Team had a very successful season this past year. They captured the district title and won numerous other meets in which they participated. The team also placed well in the regional meet. The entire swim team should be congratulated on their fine performances this season. The team would like to congratulate their coach, Dee Gorton, on her marriage to Dwayne Hargis!

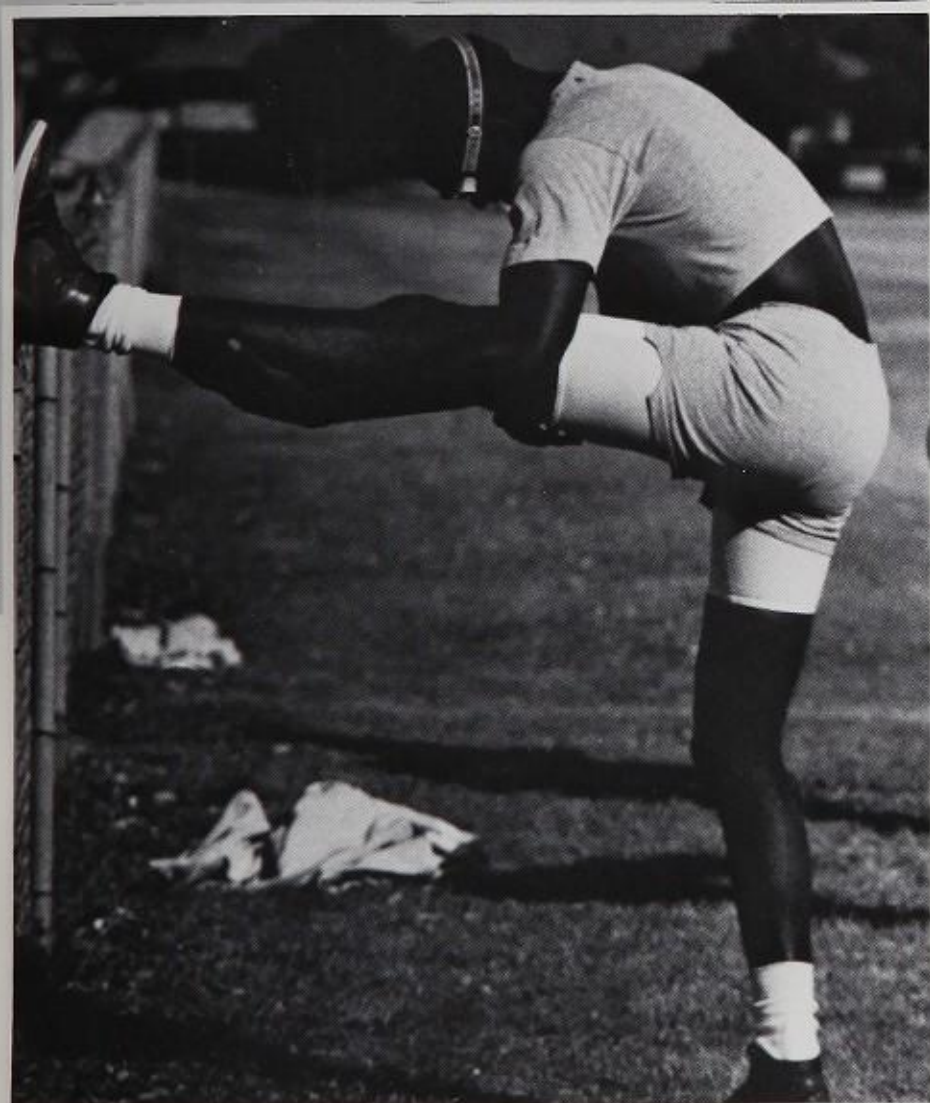

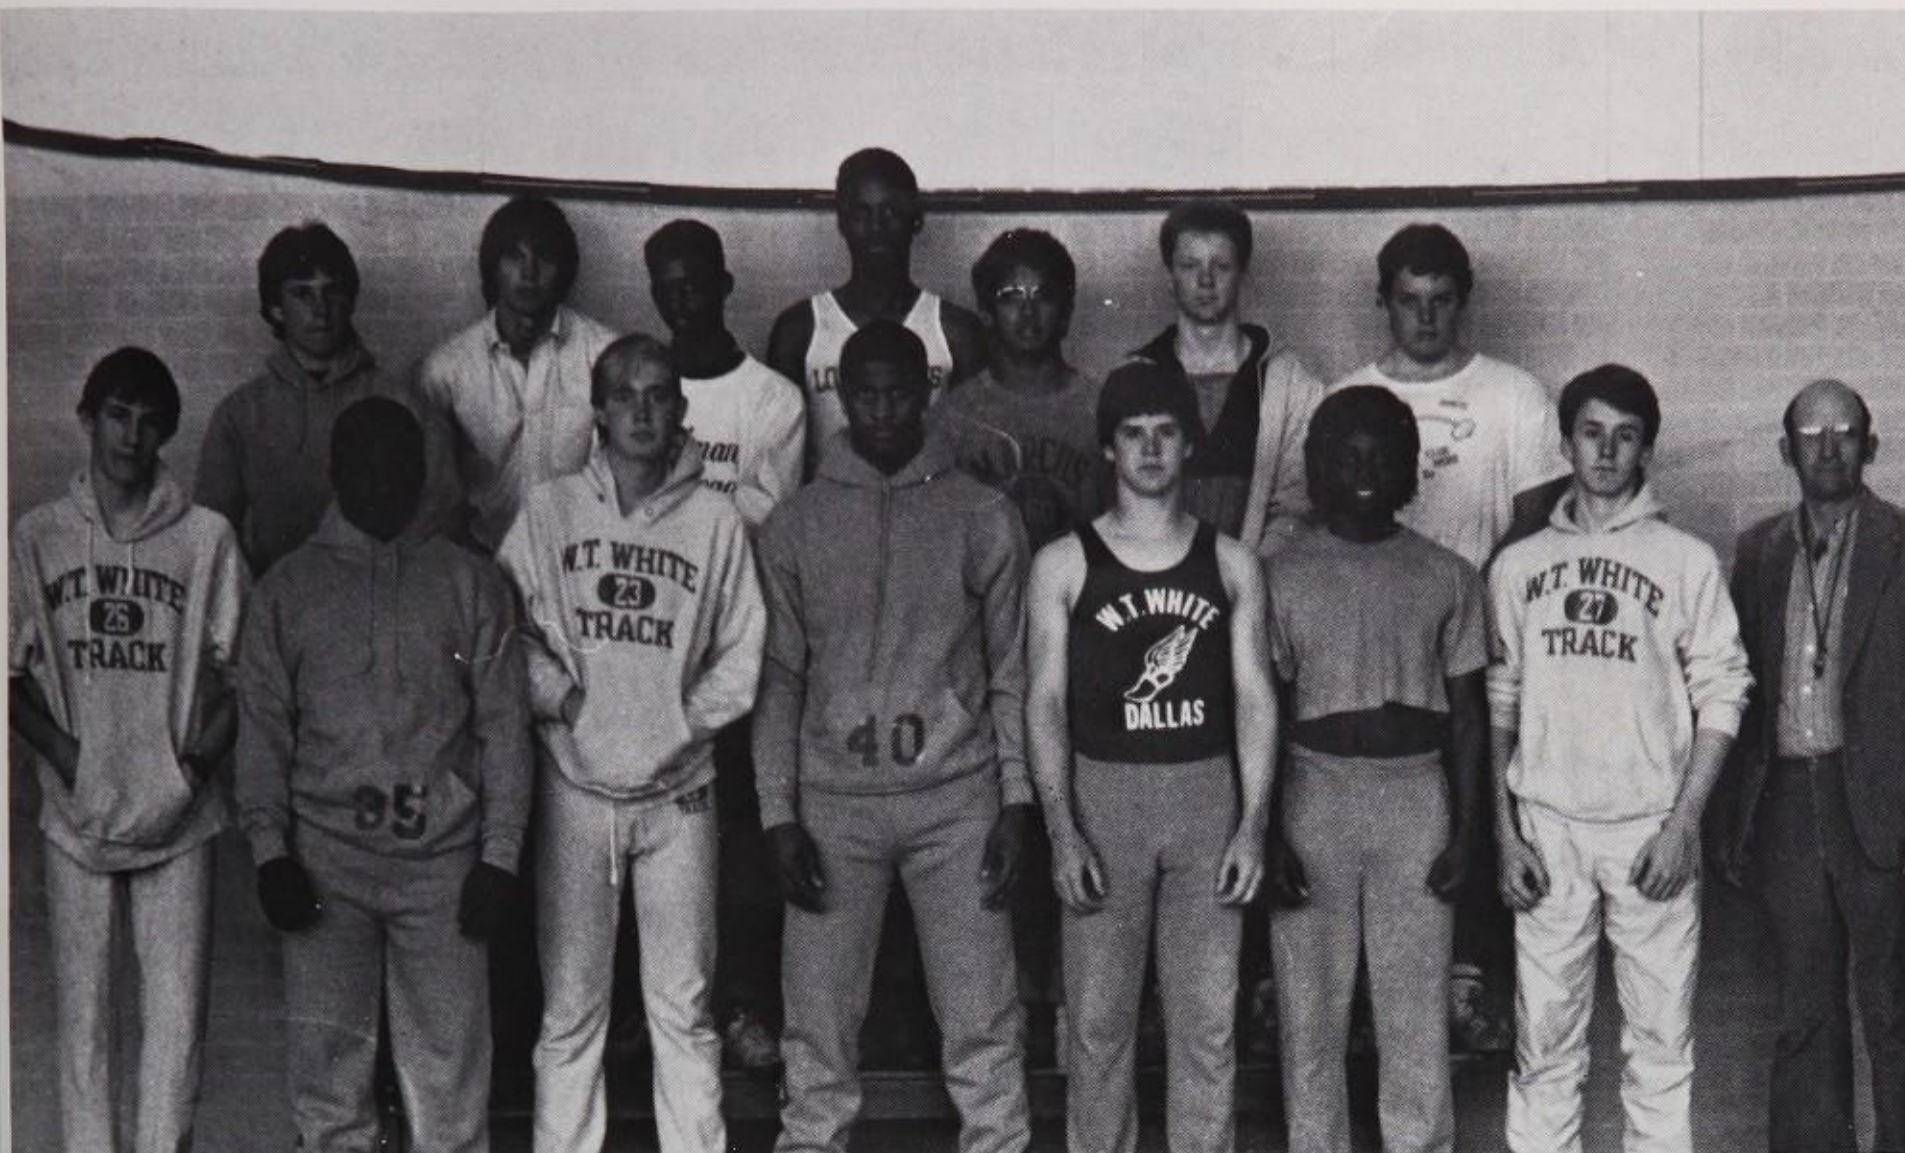

The team endured the early morning workouts before school to train for the upcoming swimming season. After hundreds of laps around the pool at Loos, the team was ready to enter competition. With Coach Dee Gorton and team captains Tom Yuill and Noel Miles and co-captains Chris Johnston and Karrie Albright, the team performed excellently in meets and proved that the hours of practice were well worth the effort.

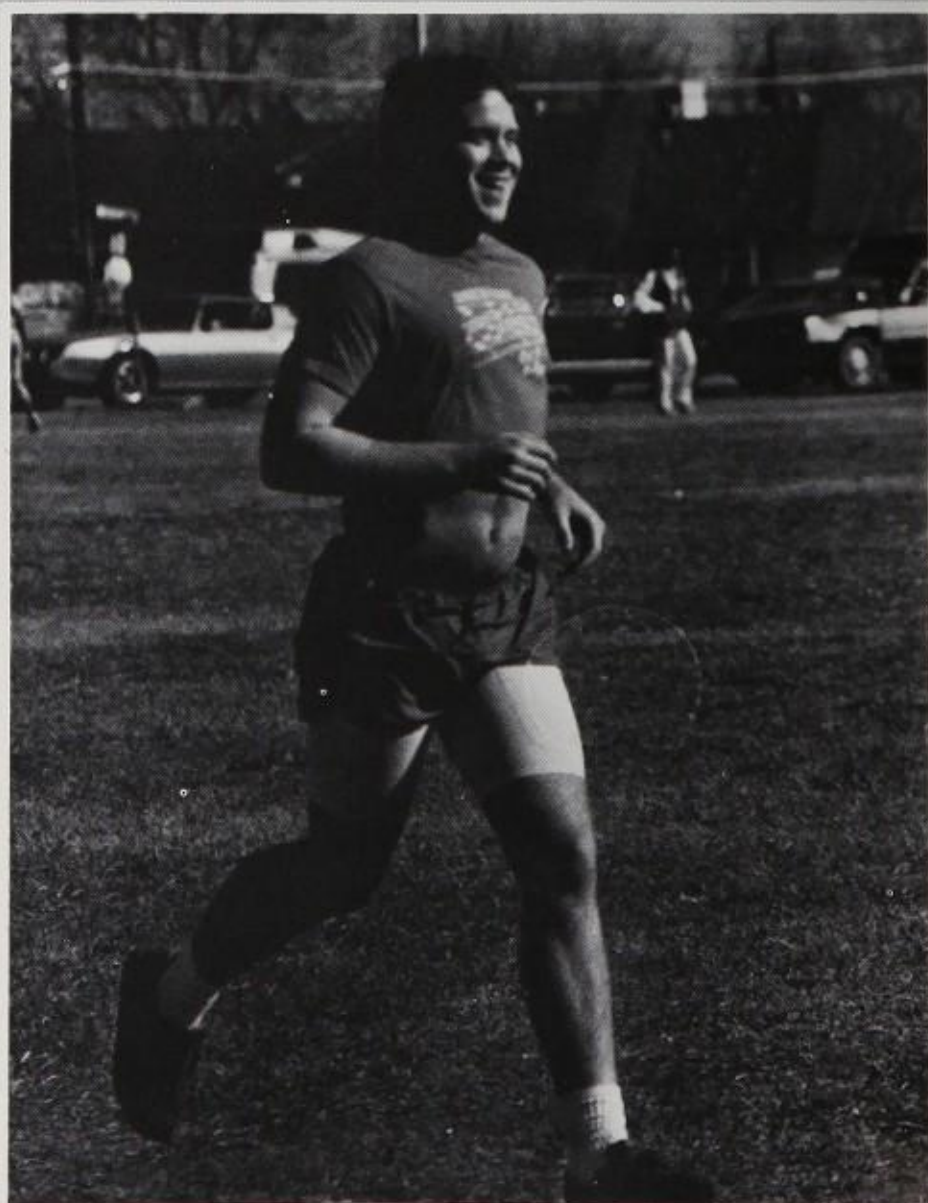

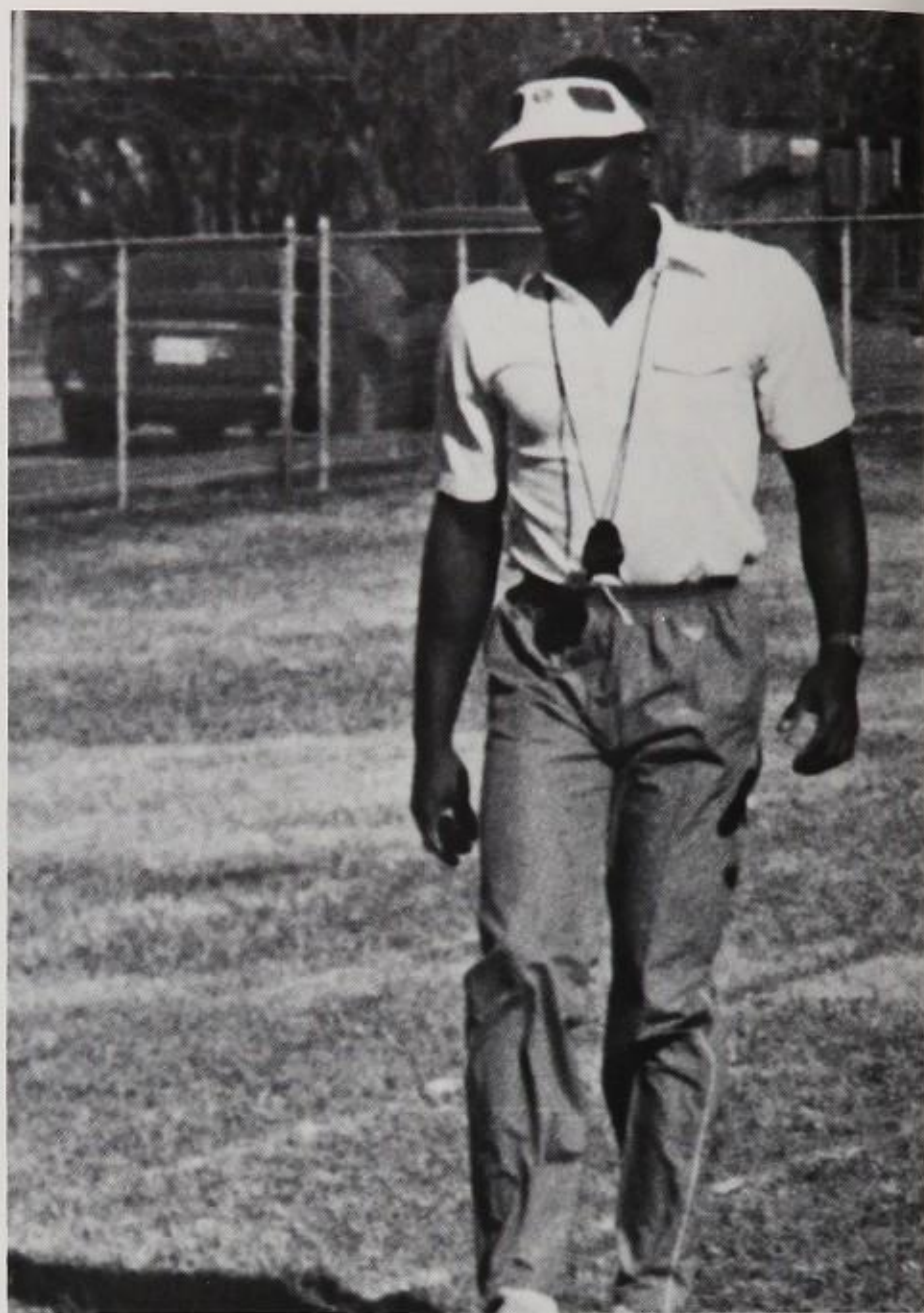

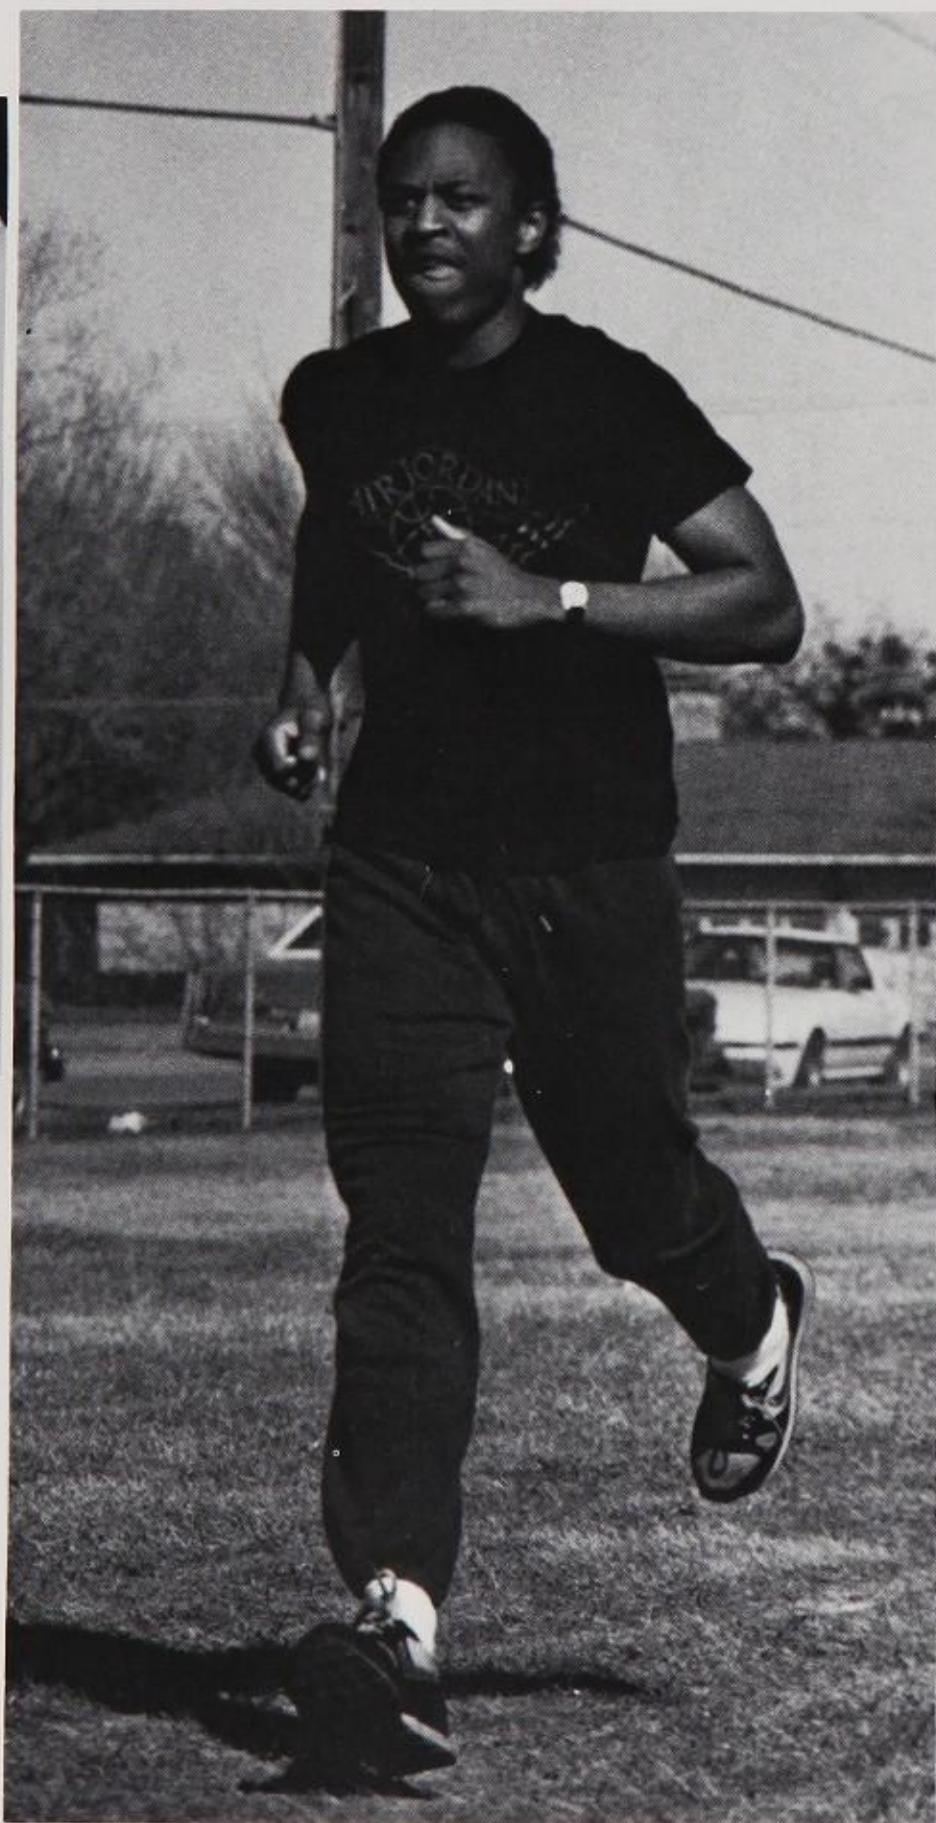

Running Brave

Strong individual talent and excellent coaching were two of the key elements that insured a successful season for the Boys' Track Team. At the various meets throughout the year, the hard work of the W.T. White team showed. High finishes in relays, distance, and field events followed the Horns the entire season. This year was a truly remarkable one for the track team.

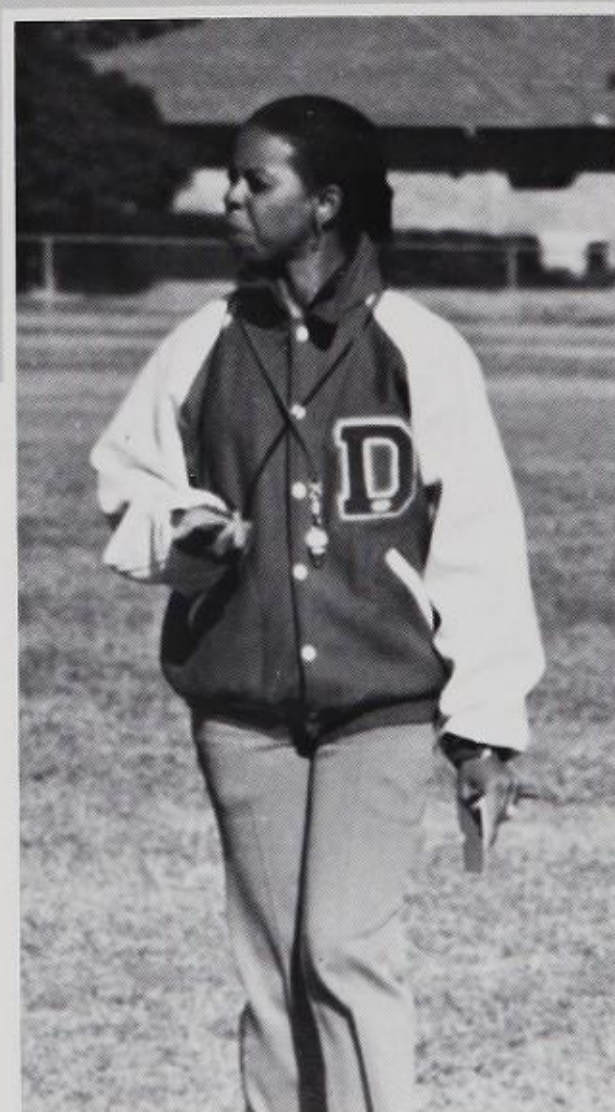

Personal Best

Marathon Man

The Cross Country team did very well this season in which they certainly ran the longest yard. Those many miles and many hours spent training reflected on the outcome of their successful year. They placed third in District Girls and fourth in District Boys 11-AAAAA. One member of the girls' squad, Jamie Arnold, qualified for the Regional meet in Arlington. The fine performances of W.T. White's Cross Country team were evidence to the fact of Coach Gorton's teaching ability. She combined hard work with patience and understanding to achieve a perfect balance that allowed the team to fare well in competition, but also have fun in the process.

The year 1986 saw the golf team go through many changes. Although the squad's coach, Ms. Eltzroth, was new to the golf program at W.T. White, she was certainly not new to the sports program as a whole. Behind her leadership, the team gained more enthusiasm and willingness to perform better. The long hours of practice at Brookhaven Country Club definitely paid off for the squad as a group, but also for individual team members. Jay Walsh did extremely well, capturing the District Medalist Title.

The Producers

This yearbook is an independent production backed only by the student body of W.T. White and an elite group of parents, alumni, and businesses who have shown their support through purchasing advertisements. Friends made in high school gather for pictures that will show the strong bonds between students who are sad to see the completion of their production. Others commemorate special events that have only personal importance, and yet, this, too, shows the world the importance of friendship. Parents bid a last farewell to their children through pictures and words that describe childhood, not the adult world they are about to enter. It is a difficult task to choose only a few words and pictures to represent eighteen years of love and emotion, but the words will carry great importance in future years when this book is reopened. Young adults who began their education together for one last photograph before time and space separates them forever. Some will lose touch and others will remain friends, but they will never be together again as an entire group like they were in high school. Businesses provide their everpresent support of W.T. White by purchasing advertisements and helping to underwrite the costs of this production. These business establishments' contributions have much importance to W.T. White as they represent the community's interest in our school and our student body, and we are very thankful for their support. Various other student groups are included here because they want to be recognized not as individuals, but as members of a group. This section is one of great affection, between parents and children, and between friends. W.T. White is proud to have the fine supporters present in this section who have helped to raise the money needed to complete this production.

MR. WOOLERY

Thank you for four fantastic years. You have been so supportive of student and faculty activities, despite the countless rules and regulations. You have shown students and teachers alike the silver lining hidden by every cloud. Amid the repressive measures of House Bill 72, you have inspired the entire student body to accept the inevitable changes and achieve more than ever before. By inviting speakers and providing other special opportunities for student enrichment, you have made all of W.T. White proud of being Longhorns. The Senior of 1986 have special feelings for a principal who was new when we were freshmen. We discovered W.T. White together, and we will leave it together. You have given us every advantage that you could possibly find. Your dedication and hard work is respected by all of W.T. White and we will miss you. We hope we have made you proud.

Goodbye and Good Luck,
Seniors '86

Sponsor's Acknowledgements

Having been an interested observer on the set of the action of this year's annual, I feel well qualified to make a personal acknowledgement of the real stars of this production: the entire annual staff. They have worked countless hours behind the scenes and behind the cameras trying to capture in film and prose a real life motion picture — that of the 1985-86 W.T. White school year.

Special recognition should go to Meredith Weenick and Clay Whitaker for the outstanding contribution they made to the yearbook industry with this year's SAGA. Without these two award-winning producers, the show could not have gone on. The individual editors, like good directors, pushed each member of their staffs to turn their work in on time and to insure its quality. For this, special directors Marilyn Khoury, Lara Saloman, Allison Smith, Brenda Katz, Robin Aronson, Julie Jones, and Bobbie Puckett should be thanked. What good would a director be without the very able technicians who labored day and night to complete the project? Here, a big thanks goes to Roseann Giesing, Becki Gordon, Andrea Guerrero, Kent Haythorn, Kim Krieger, Karla Macklin, Karen Mellow, Clare Redig, Julie Roberts, Jennifer St. John, Colette Sterling, Amber Walsh, Lisa Winn, and Jill Yoder. Finally, what movie or annual staff is a success without a talented film crew? Enough cannot be said for the contributions of photography editor, Kim Hooker. Hers was truly an award-winning performance. She was ably assisted by Patty Doerries, Jody Swartz, Stacy Ladd, Sonbol Jahani, Mitch Berke, Stuart Greene, and Mike Lombardo.

It was truly my pleasure to be a part of this production! It is my hope that looking back through the 1985-86 annual in the future will be like watching a late-night movie rerun — a nostalgic, happy memory of the good times!

Patricia Gage

Editors' Acknowledgements

After months of preparation, the SAGA is finally finished. A lot of hard work and effort went into this book, but we could not have done it by ourselves. We would like to take this time to thank the following people for their cooperation in helping to bring the yearbook together.

- Mrs. Gage-Your constant enthusiasm and support guided us through the difficult times and encouraged us to carry on.
- Nelda Orman-You made our first year with Jostens a great one.
- Editors and staff-You may have disliked our nagging about deadlines, but you never complained. You did a great job with the book. Thanks a lot!
- Photographers-You always pulled through the hard times and we really appreciate your help. The pictures look excellent!
- Vernon and Carol Randle, Jane Deatherage, Mary Ann Rembert, Annell Barentine, Andrea Boardman, and Shirlee Rich-Your last minute donations of photographs were invaluable gifts.
- Mr. Woolery and staff-Our dealings with you may not have always run as smoothly as possible, but we appreciate your cooperation and apologize for any inconvenience.
- Mary Grace Eubank-Again your artistic creations have graced another yearbook. We can not express how grateful we are for your design for the cover.
- David L. Bush-Thank you for the use of your limousines in our pictures.
- Thomas Alva Edison-Without your work on motion pictures, in the early days, our theme would have little meaning now.

The End

The movie is over, the credits have flashed by, and the viewer is left to contemplate the production. But how do you analyze nine months of high school, the most vital time in your life? Full of visual images, emotions and concrete achievements. This movie is more than just empty words and pictures. This is a review of the school year 1985-86. This slim volume contains the highs and lows, the excitement and the disappointment of one-fourth of your high school career. Its premiere run was highly successful, nearly sold out every day. Hopefully, it will always have great meaning to those who took part in it. For personal reasons, this movie ranks with classics such as Singin' in the Rain, Gone with the Wind, and The Wizard of Oz, as one you would go back to see one hundred times, even if you do know how it ends, and have to pay five dollars each time. This classic is even better than a videocassette. To re-release this epic, all you have to do is open the cover, no VHS recorder required. There isn't even a rental fee. High school is something we all experience, and you can't rent emotions or memories. Enjoy the excitement of W.T. White as it is happening so that you don't have to wait for another Big Chill to remind you of your high school days. The more you contribute to this production, the more you will benefit by it. Above all, this is a movie composed of students, by students, for students. Don't wait until the day before your 25th reunion before you start the movie over. This is a classic you will want to watch again and again. Warren Travis White High School is a wonderful part of all of us and, through this production, it will never be forgotten. People change, and you can never go back to the way things were, but you will always have the memories. That is what this production is all about, memories. In Walt Whitman's words, we have created this review "for precious everlingering memories" of high school. And please remember to keep the aisles clear of all popcorn and candy boxes as you leave the theatre. Thank you, and come again. Also, please don't reveal the ending to the underclassmen, they've still got a few years to figure it out.

Jennifer:

Well, we didn't begin the school year off as friends, but we seem to get along better now. I hope you have a cool summer and keep the group on a string.

Love ya-

Lisa Brown

Jennifer,

Camp App. was just too Gw.

However, I enjoyed the Gw we had in the class. Keep in touch this summer; I'll see you next year.

Jennifer -
 Dym was so much fun last year.
 Don't you miss
 Coach Heard? I thought you were dropping I call me! Let's

 Robin
 moving but I'm glad you

Hello there Mr. Jennifer -
 And what you're doing?
 I'm sorry I act
 kinda rude sometimes but a rather bizarre person -

BE YOURSELF
 I AM

Love,
 Scott

Jennifer,

I'm glad we met
 this year, but sorry was so late! We need do some stuff! Call me this summer!

Voted to work in the
 Attendance office this year.
 I'm a great summer and best of luck with you - Stay out of trouble so you will be back at school

Jennifer, I know it's a bit awkward but we did become friends and
 I'm glad we can go this summer. We can have
 out some soda.
 Maybe we can have a great summer
 and call me
 sometime. Love

Jennifer, I had a new idea you have your car - you'll have to come by and visit me over the summer. Don't party too much - (you know to have fun -) Have a good summer.
 Love
 Scott
